Ontario-Quebec Region In Grip of Heat Wave

Kingston reported 70, Ottawa 76 and Montreal an even eighty to the Toronto score. At London it was 76. The coolest place in Ontario--rightly enough--was Moosean, where the thermometers recorded an even forty-two degrees.

Meanwhile, department store counters were handing out bathing suits and flannels by the thousands. Firemen turned hose on children in downtown sections of some cities, where the youngsters were unable to seek relief in lakes and rivers.

IN QUEBEC
Montreal, June 9--Quebec had a high temperature to-day. A blazing sun threw the mercury up to ninety degrees Fahrenheit in Montreal. Quebec City shimmered in the hot sun at a reading of eighty-five, and similar temperatures along the St. Lawrence Valley. Forests are dry and several small bush fires have broken out.

COURT TOLD OF INCOME RETURN
Revenue Agent Hesitates at First in Tax Trial of C. E. Mitchell in New York

Associated Press
New York, June 9--An internal revenue agent called as a defense witness in the trial of Charles E. Mitchell, declined to-day to give testimony on an income tax return ordered to do so by the federal attorney on the ground that "it might mean a $1,000 fine or that I'd lose my job or go to jail."

Learning yesterday that the Victoria Bar Association unless taxation methods were changed a breakdown in the system was inevitable. He pointed out the extra financial burden Victoria had to bear this year amounting to nearly $450,000, half of which was due to social service charges handed over by the provincial government.

REALTORS TO BE HEARD
The Real Estate Board of Victoria will also make recommendations to the commission regarding proposed changes in municipal taxation it was reported at a luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room to-day.

A letter from Judge Harper informed the members that he could see no reason why they should not be heard. At the last meeting of the board several members offered proposals which, they felt, were worthy of serious consideration by the commissioners. Among these was a point suggested by Mayor H. Cuthbert Holmes, who advocated a more equitable distribution of taxes on lands.

Several other matters were also discussed and it is anticipated that these will be included in the brief. The realtors who will meet the commission will be appointed by the board executive.

BOWSER SEES B.C. SURPLUS

Possible to Turn Adverse Balance of $2,000,000 Into Favorable One, He Says

Canadian Press
Langley, B.C., June 9--"Dr. Toimie has labored and brought forth a mouse," W. J. Bowser, K.C., leader of the Non-party movement, told an audience here yesterday evening when criticizing the Premier's recent reorganization of his cabinet. Mr. Bowser reiterated his statement that, if returned to power, he would reduce the number of cabinet ministers and cut overhead expenditures generally in the departments. He said: "He said where a deficit of more than $2,000,000 in balancing the budget could be changed into a surplus of $2,000,000."

He said it had been a severe blow to the management of affairs of the province there had been no other course open. He had now nothing to gain personally by the change.

Dugald Donaghy, K.C., gave an exposition of the difference between the Non-party movement and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation were present and Mr. Bowser was challenged to say how he would effect more than a $400,000 saving by cutting down the cabinet.

He said there would be a general cutting down of departmental expenses. His ministers all working to reduce expenditures.

NO FAVORITISM
Mr. Donaghy said big savings could be made by eliminating such party methods as granting contracts to party friends. He said almost all the money for the finding of positions for others, and the granting of concessions to certain interests for party fund contributions, the interests standing to make many times the amount subscribed to party funds.

Asked by a woman whether he would favor a woman in his cabinet, Mr. Bowser advised her to interest her sex in the movement.

"Send me half a dozen good-looking women," he said, "and I will certainly pick one."

STUBBS NAMED AS CANDIDATE

Former Judge Nominated By C.C.F. in Mackenzie, Sask., Federal By-election

Canadian Press
Preeceville, Sask., June 9--Little more than a week after he was retired from the Manitoba county court bench by order-in-council at Ottawa, Lewis George Stubbs to-day was in the political arena as a candidate for the Mackenzie constituency in the federal by-election.

The former judge received ninety-three votes out of 131 polled, nearly three times as many as were marked for all three candidates opposing him at the convention.

MAKES SPEECH
Comparing his position on the Manitoba bench to that of an eagle beating its wings against the bars of a cage, Mr. Stubbs told the audience that he was happy to be free, free to speak his mind with no one to restrain him.

The former judge said he thought politics his natural calling, and that he was more so than the bench, and, amid applause, he added he believed in freedom of thought, of speech and assembly, "wherever and whenever you are."

NO REVENGE
I shall not attempt to interfere with personal matters in the forthcoming campaign, he declared, "but I am seeking political honors for that reason alone."

Angus McLean, Labor M.P. for South Vancouver, in a brief address urged united support for Mr. Stubbs, asking that he forget personal differences and to give his undivided assistance to the C.C.F. candidate.

WOODSWORTH'S OPINION
Ottawa, June 9--"I would consider former Judge Stubbs a very valuable addition to the southeast corner," said J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation to-day. Mr. Woodsworth was referring to the nomination yesterday of Lewis George Stubbs, leader of the C.C.F. in the federal constituency of Mackenzie in Saskatchewan. The date of the by-election has not yet been fixed.

The southeast corner of the House of Commons is occupied by Labor and United Farmer members.

His hope of beating Post and Gatty apparently rests in his ability to reduce the time he is on the ground. The Chicago-bound Mattern was seen from Krasnoyarsk.

CANADA-ASIA TRADE TOPIC

Pacific Congress Speaker Sees Dominion Better As Compared With U.S.

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 9--Canada has made great proportional progress in expanding its trade with Asia and Pacific countries when its trading possibilities are contrasted with those of the United States, Robert H. Coats, Dominion statistician, told the fifth Pacific Science Congress here to-day in referring to a brochure prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics regarding Canada's trade with countries in these areas for the years 1923 to 1932, inclusive.

Imports into Canada from Asia in this period decreased 64.8 per cent and exports thereto, 37.1 per cent. Mr. Coats declared, while imports into the United States from Asia during the same period decreased 64.9 per cent and exports 42.9 per cent. Canadian imports from Oceania decreased 121.8 per cent in the ten-year period and exports decreased 64.9 per cent. The United States imports from Oceania decreased 87 per cent and exports were down 74.9 per cent.

Canada's total Asiatic and Oceania imports in 1932 were $22,761,000 and exports to those countries in that year were $36,292,000.

ALASKA AND AMERICA
While Canadian trade with Alaska and Central and South American countries bordering on the Pacific was of less importance than that with Asia and Oceania, Mr. Coats stated, Canada had made considerable progress in those markets since 1923. Despite a general decrease in world trade, Canada's total imports from these areas have remained practically unchanged, while exports have dropped from $6,146,000 to $3,305,000.

P. VERIGIN IN WINNIPEG PUT UNDER ARREST

Verigin was refused bail and was held to appear later to-day in court before C. E. S. Smith, immigration commissioner. His lawyers announced soon after his arrest.

The community leader, whose deportation two months ago was halted by a decision of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court after he had been pardoned during an eighteen-month term in the Prince Albert jail for perjury, came here last Monday, presumably to work for migration of his followers to Mexico. He was picked up in a Young Street lodging house to-day.

PIER ISLAND CASE OPENS

The island would depreciate its value after the government had ceased to occupy it. Witnesses replied that he considered this would be the case and that the adjacent property, Knapp Island, which also forms part of the future only worth approximately $10,000 for residential purposes as against a former valuation of $30,000.

The fact that there was once a penitentiary on Pier Island, Mr. McPherson told the court, "would materially affect the property's saleability."

The stigma would always remain," Mr. Justice MacLean allowed the evidence only on the understanding that after consideration he could, if he saw fit, strike it out.

NO MORE PILES

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause. Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. McHardy, cures because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID tablets have an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when HEM-ROID can cure you? HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. STATE REGRET ON CASUALTIES

Japanese Army Leaders Send Message to Chinese Leaders at Peiping

Peiping, China, June 9.—The Japanese army which recently threatened to occupy Peiping as part of a campaign to clear the Chinese from the southern side of the Great Wall of China, yesterday offered their recent foes condolences on the loss of Chinese lives in the hostilities. Marking the second time a Japanese plane ever landed at this metropolis, a Japanese bomber—minus the bombs—came down at the Chinese airport at the outskirts of the city. It carried a representative of the Japanese army seeking a responsible Chinese official to whom he could hand the condolences. Finding no one with authority at the airport, he took off again in the plane, flew over the Japanese legation and dropped a letter in a metal cylinder which requested the Japanese legation officials to convey the message to Chinese military leaders. This gesture by the Japanese army was one of several indications of genuine efforts on the part of both Chinese and Japanese to carry out the terms of the recent Tangi peace agreement. The Chinese have been receiving their troops from the scene of hostilities between here and the wall. Montreal's new St. Antoine market erected at a cost of approximately $1,000,000 and recently opened, contains an auditorium which can accommodate 10,000 to 12,000 people. (Adv.)

Conservative Wins British By-election

London, June 9.—The by-election made necessary by the death of Viscount Knebworth, Conservative, in the Hitchin division of Hertfordshire resulted today in the election of Lieut.-Col. Sir Arnold Wilson, Conservative, with 14,569 votes over William Bennett, Labor, 10,362.

YOUTH DENIES HE KILLED MOTHER

Nashville, Tenn., June 9.—A nationwide search for Balfe Macdonald, seventeen, wanted in Flint, Mich., in connection with the slaying of his wealthy widowed mother, Mrs. Grace B. Macdonald, ended yesterday when a youth held on federal charges admitted to Detective Chief Elkin Lewis that he was the missing son. Denying he had killed his mother, who was found in bed with her skull crushed the morning of May 27, young Macdonald said he had "argued" with her "practically all the night before" and decided to run away. He last saw his mother about 1 a.m. the day she was found dead, he told the chief, although it was three hours later that he left home with one of his mother's automobiles and $45 he had taken from her purse. He and William Terwilliger, sixteen, left Flint together "to make it on our own," the youth told Lewis, going first to Detroit and then to Toledo, where he said he first learned of his mother's death through reading of it in a newspaper. Nickel ranks ninth among the metals in the quantities consumed annually throughout the world.

RELATION OF RACES TRACED

Affinity Between Japanese and Malaya Languages Asserted Before Congress

Vancouver, June 9.—In a selected list of 115 words, Professor Nobuhiro Matsumoto, professor of Oriental history at the University of Tokyo, sought to demonstrate to the Pacific Science Congress here today that the Japanese language had an affinity with the speech of Oceania and Malaya to the extent both were derived from a common source. Discussing various hypotheses of authorities on comparative philology, Professor Matsumoto admitted the origin of the Malayo-Polynesian languages in the continent of Asia. He went further, however, in that he advanced his own opinion the language from which Japanese developed was derived from that which also gave origin to the Malay peninsula and the Oceanic islands. This ancient, original tongue the professor called Austric. In his examples Professor Matsumoto showed where the root word had been preserved in each of the languages cited, and in every case was the same. For the most part the selected words were simple terms for different parts of the anatomy. "Are these resemblances in their vocabulary to be taken merely as the evidence of the contact in the past between the Japanese and the Austric languages?" he asked. "The time may come when it will be proved that the Japanese and the Austric languages are related, derived from a common stock."

SCORES KILLED BY HEAT WAVE

Many Prostrated in North-east and Middle West of United States

Twenty-two Deaths in Illinois in Three Days; Eight Deaths in Detroit

Canadian Press
New York, June 9.—Sizzling hot record breaking temperatures baked vast stretches of the eastern half of the United States, bringing reports of deaths that approached the century mark.

And while some portions of the affected areas, notably the extreme southern and eastern parts of the Great Lakes region, were enjoying moderate relief from the devastating effects of the week's intensely high temperature readings, the eastern half of the United States saw no prospect of lower figures until to-night, when local thunder showers may ease the situation.

This city suffered yesterday with a record-breaking June 8 temperature of 92, with one heat death and two drownings, but it was the Middle West where the death figures mounted.

Illinois alone counted twenty-two dead in three days of the heat wave. Eighteen of the fatalities were in Chicago, where the thermometer shot up to 97—a new all-time record for a June day. Then began to succeed with a drop of 10 degrees promised for to-day. Dozens of persons were overcome and treated in Chicago hospitals, including eight visitors to the city's Century of Progress Exposition.

Cleveland was scorched under an all-time heat record of 96 for the day. Eleven were known to have died in Ohio during the last two days from the heat, with two others losing their lives by drownings.

Detroit likewise tried to keep cool, but couldn't as the mercury went to a record-breaking June 8 figure of 100. Eight dead from the heat were counted in the Michigan metropolis, and two were drowned.

Drownings were common throughout the affected sections as residents took to the streams and beaches.

PRAIRIES AND ONTARIO
Winnipeg, June 9.—While eastern Canada and mid-western portions of the United States sweated in stifling heat, Canadian prairie people went about their business favored by moderate temperatures and cooling breezes. Temperatures ranged from 42 at Mooseone in northern Ontario to a degree above 70 at Regina in Saskatchewan in comparison with the just below 100 readings in Ontario and Quebec.

Light scattered showers were reported in Saskatchewan, while in other parts of the west the weather has been mostly fair and mild.

ESKIMO ORIGIN STILL STUDIED

Affinity With Asian Civilization Open Field For Study, Pacific Congress Learns

Vancouver, June 9.—Scientists tracing the origin of aborigines continue to find their most absorbing work on the northern half of this continent. Affinity between the Eskimo and the Indian, elements that are common to both, and the speculation whether the sources of the two races was common are still fertile fields of research. Further data was presented to the Pacific Science Congress here yesterday on this fascinating study by Dr. R. L. Olson, associate professor of anthropology at the University of California.

Recent archaeological work undertaken on the Pacific Coast had disclosed many new facts about the culture of the pre-historic inhabitants, but it had added little or nothing toward the solution of the great question of the Eskimo's origin. Further work on the north Pacific coast and in Asia was necessary, Professor Olson believed, in order to demonstrate the fundamental of north Pacific coast culture were derived from Asia.

Dr. Olson found many characteristic traits of the pre-historic inhabitants of the north Pacific Coast of America bearing specific analogies to the inhabitants of Oceania. He cited a number of these, but reminded his hearers the possibility of ancient and later intermittent contacts must also be considered in assessing the value of these for the study of origins.

In spite of archaeological achievements of the past, Dr. Olson regards the question as still open, believing every new discovery must be looked on as a reason for reopening the whole question of the relation between the culture of native America and that of the Old World.

Explorer Reports From Turkestan

Peiping, China, June 9.—Dr. Nils Ambolt, member of a Swedish-Swedish expedition lost in 1927 in northern Tibet, is safe in Khotan, southwest Turkestan, according to a telegram received here yesterday by the Swedish explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin. The message from Dr. Ambolt said he would return shortly to China by way of India. Dr. Ambolt went into Sinkiang in order to continue four years of research in Central Asia. A terrific snowstorm had blocked his way, and he and his scientific instruments, worth thousands of dollars.

POULTRY RAISER CONQUERS "ROUP"

Pratt's Minard's Liniment As Remedy for Roup or Bronchial Flu
Read in this letter from G. Minville, Fort Garry, how he checked Roup (Bronchitis) when it broke out among his young hens. "After trying other remedies and obtaining no results whatever," writes Minville, "I used Minard's Liniment. Five to six drops on the tongue and sometimes more, depending on the birds. I am positive that it helped me out a lot. Minard's Liniment is a tried and proven remedy for various types of Roup and also for Roup in turkeys, geese, ducks and chickens, as well as for Roup and Roup in turkeys. For sale by all druggists."

DISARMAMENT PROGRESS URGED

Associated Press
Paris, June 9.—Jesse I. Straus, presenting his credentials as new United States ambassador to France, yesterday told President Lebrun the United States was waiting for France to do something definite for disarmament and for the success of the World Economic Conference.

While Mr. Straus was telling the French statesman what the United States government hoped for, Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, argued with Premier Daladier to abolish tanks and reduce artillery so as to make disarmament possible. Mr. Straus told the President the French response to these economic and military problems "caused us to await with confidence the acts of the French government which will give reality to these projects."

MAN KILLS THREE AND WOUNDS SELF

Associated Press
New York, June 9.—A 70-cent bread knife cuts its way to-day to a triple tragic solution of Raymond Irizarry's "in-law problem."

As a screaming quarrel in a little New York City tenement, Irizarry, thirty-three-year-old laborer and man of the house, reached for the knife. "I am tired," he said to his wife, "of supporting your mother and sister on the money I make."

He stabbed the mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Vizarrondo, plunged the knife into the abdomen of his sister-in-law, Cecilia, twenty-five, and attacked his young wife, Ricardo. They died a short time later.

Irizarry, still holding the knife, then ran into the street and stabbed himself in the chest. He is not expected to live.

Police entering his flat found his three daughters—the oldest four years—sleeping on their cots.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AGAIN TAKES THE LEAD

British Columbia was last of the areas of Canada to join in the tail-spin after 1929. Now her basic industries, which are those of primary production, are lifting her out first. This is logical and according to anticipations as an increased demand for the raw and semi-finished products of this province has been looked for as the first definite indication of revival in the secondary manufacturing industries elsewhere. Natural resources of great extent and variety are again proving the foundation of a prosperity here that may be delayed at times, but is ultimately not to be denied.

With the persistence of water dripping on a stone, a similar process of attrition is perceived by Mr. James as under way in the United States. When it is realized in the neighboring republic that the probabilities are against payment, it will discover in enthusiasm for the ultimate course, justification for the reversal. Public opinion is as adaptable as life itself.

Machine-made majorities may be pleasant enough for the Government in power for a while, but they have their dangers. The purpose of Guy Pawkes may in modern days be accomplished much less violently, but no less efficiently, through the electoral machine, by the very simple expedient not of blowing up the Parliament, but of blowing away the Opposition.

Fantastic as it sounds to-day, there is a real danger that the Government's "talkie shop" may in the end lead to quite unforeseen consequences. Let us imagine, at some distant date, a really violent Woods, a recent president of the Canadian Chambers of Commerce, and the publisher of the chief Conservative newspaper in Alberta, speaks thus we realize how little of satisfaction Bennett policies of high and higher tariffs have brought the people this side of the Great Lakes.

Rheumatism Beaten Again

Time and time again we have seen it proved beyond doubt that rheumatism simply cannot resist the regular "little daily dose" of Kruschen. This is a fact that has just come to our notice.

Some years ago now, I was taken ill with muscular rheumatism, and was on my back for 12 weeks. My sufferings were such that I could not move, and I took a dose every morning, found relief, and finally recovered by evening. From that day, which is 10 years and 8 months ago, I have never missed one dose. I would sooner go without my best meal than go without my dose of Kruschen Salts. I am now free from all muscular pains, and have never felt any signs of rheumatism since, recommending Kruschen whenever people speak about stiffness of joints in the joints."—J. N.

Your kidneys always performed properly their duty as filters, poisonous acids would never be allowed to pass into your blood. And this would mean going to the end of your days without knowing what rheumatism is.

Simply because it is the presence of uric acid in the blood-stream which causes rheumatic conditions. Now the physiological effect of the numerous mineral salts in Kruschen is to arouse all the organs of elimination (including, of course, the kidneys) to healthy, regular action, so that they promptly expel through the natural channels uric acid and other dangerous waste products of digestion. Let Kruschen do this for you. Buy a bottle to-day, and begin the "daily dose" in the morning.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c and 15c per bottle.

Saanchich Conservatives Hear About Manifesto

Premier and Ministers Talk on Platform For Next Provincial Contest

Premier Says P.G.E. Sale Proposed; Jones Answers McGeough

Highlights of Premier Tolmie's Unionist platform, as announced in his manifesto, were enlarged upon by the Premier and two of his ministers at a meeting of Ward Two Saanchich Conservatives yesterday evening in the Lake Hill Community Hall.

The Premier dealt mainly with the Unionist plan to control marketing, under powers to be sought by amendment of the British North America Act, along with the appointment of a marketing board to regulate shipment, and packing goods, brokerage and other items. This is mainly directed toward aiding agriculture.

He also laid down the sale of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway as another plank in the Unionist platform, stating one of the terms of its sale would be to have it extended into the Peace River country. To this end, negotiations are still pending with both British and a United States syndicate, he said.

Hon. Wm. M. Dennes, the new minister of Labor, propounded his plan, based chiefly on shorter working hours "without obstruction to industry," but he did not cite any definite plan, outside of illustrating that his proposal had the support of high authorities which had moved for a thirty-hour working week.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, in addition to briefly reviewing the present government's handling of finances, promised a policy of strict economy, together with application to the federal government for better terms, and wound up on an optimistic note regarding signs of improvement in business conditions.

W. A. Williams was chairman of the meeting which was enlivened by solos from Mrs. H. Corbett, assisted by Miss G. White, and a demonstration of cartooning by William Thorne.

The depression, a condition more serious than at the time of the war, had affected everyone, the Premier said in his opening remarks. It had brought people up with a sharp turn to realize that they had to look after their "bawbees."

This condition had confronted the present government when it took office, he said. Mining, timber, the tourist trade and other lines were all affected, and the effect on the government was a falling off in revenues. He cited how the income from eleven industries amounting to $700,000 had dropped to $70,000 in 1929.

UNIONIST IDEA CONCEIVED
The war days were recalled when this situation was faced, the Premier said. In those times a unionist government was formed the same as in England recently. It was felt that a unionist government would benefit British Columbia.

"Last fall I approached Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Bowser, asking them to join a union government, but they refused," said Mr. Pattullo again during the session, but he again refused.

However, I was successful in securing Mr. Dennes as the labor representative in the union party," he said. "In selecting Mr. Dennes I had no idea of choosing a man from any particular branch of labor," he continued. "It was simply a man as a whole, organized and unorganized."

Dealing with unemployment relief, the Premier said it was no disgrace that British Columbia had 100,000 people living on relief, when conditions all over the country were considered. The Premier said he was a firm believer in giving work to men with a decent return, and did not agree with the present system, which had been forced upon the government through the circumstances. Relief could only be considered a temporary measure, and the government in 1929 had sought to widen markets for British Columbia products and create labor. Representatives were sent to the antipodes, aiding the lumber industry considerably. The British and Oriental markets for British Columbia lumber were also increased. Through the efforts of the provincial government a subsidy for the steamship line operating across the Pacific had been secured from the federal government.

MARKETING POWERS
The unionist government, the Premier said, intended to seek powers to control marketing as a beneficial move for agriculture. An amendment to the B.N.A. Act, requiring sanction of the nine provinces and the federal government, would be necessary to achieve this end.

"We also propose a marketing board, similar to that operating in Ontario," he continued. It would be a voluntary affair, to look after the shipping and packing of goods, brokerage and other matters. I discovered while Minister of Agriculture—how essential such a thing is. Other aids to agriculture would be an extension of the soil classification work carried on in the Okanagan and widening of the work done by the various organizations such as Farmers' Institutes and Women's Institutes at the present time.

P.G.E. SALE

The Premier discussed the P.G.E. at some length, referring to the huge deficits in the past, but declaring that in the last two months, it had shown an operating profit and was now giving a dining car service with a 75-cent menu.

"We propose to dispose of the P.G.E. but under better conditions than at present. And in doing so we will get it extended to the Peace River country to open up that territory of vast resources," he said.

The unionists would also pay close attention to the tourist trade, he assured his audience. The mountains of British Columbia could be sold every year to tourists for a long time to come.

LABOR MINISTER

Mr. Dennes, in dealing with unemployment, said it was not something that had happened in the last four years, but a condition prevailing for a long time. After the war, even at the peak period of prosperity in 1928, there were 75,000 unemployed in Canada.

He described how the scientific application of machinery to industry had displaced more and more men, and they had never been absorbed again.

The problem must be squarely faced, Mr. Dennes said. The time had arrived to study it from a new angle. He believed it was possible to absorb into industry a large number of the men now on relief.

Mr. Dennes explained what he meant in his first announcement regarding unemployment policy after being sworn in.

There should be no obstruction of industry, but hours of work should be shortened during the depression. Industry and labor should co-operate to do so.

"I don't want to interfere with the man earning a small wage, but there are many men in industry to-day who could afford to take a shorter week or shorter day to help those whose morale has sunk to a low ebb through unemployment," he said.

The matter should be attacked scientifically. Instead of letting men out when conditions grew bad, the available work should be divided amongst all the employees.

He mentioned in this connection the thirty-hour week bill passed by the U.S. Senate. This same plan had been endorsed by the great labor unions, which also favored rotation of labor. The League of Nations recommended consideration of the shorter work day and several large companies had made it effective.

Saskatchewan had the question of a thirty-hour week now before it, he pointed out, quoting a news dispatch covering introduction of a bill in the legislature there for a five-day week and six-hour day.

It was ridiculous to ask for more wages and shorter hours at the same time, he added. Those who are working should realize that the greatest menace to themselves was the crowd of men outside who were not working. It was time the working men realized that they must sacrifice to help those who are unemployed.

NOT THROUGH YET

"I am fully convinced we are not quite through with the depression yet. I sincerely hope we will break the back of it this year, but I am a little pessimistic. And if we do have this condition for another year, I predict another cut in working conditions and you must be prepared to share your work with the unemployed," he declared.

Mr. Dennes said a generous opportunity had been extended by the Unionist government to labor in opening up a new position. He said he intended, while in office, to give impartial administration to all organizations as well as to the great body of unorganized workers.

If labor does not take advantage of the great opportunity given it in the history of British Columbia, then it does not want such an opportunity," he said.

Mr. Dennes was asked by one of the audience if it were possible to solve unemployment under the competitive system.

"Yes, if we get rid of the selfishness in which everyone tries to grab all he can for himself," he replied.

Mr. Dennes was asked what his attitude was to the rate of pay for single men in relief camps. "As a member of the Unionist Government I cannot do anything about it, as it is under federal jurisdiction. As for my personal opinion, I feel it is unfortunate that any man should be in such a position, I believe, however, it will not hurt any unemployed to do a little work in return for relief," he replied.

RELIEF ALLOWANCES

Mr. Jones at the outset of his remarks, answered the question put to Mr. Dennes regarding the allowance to single men in relief camps. He explained that this was not a wage, but merely an allowance given over and above food, clothing and shelter. The government was certainly not satisfied but regarded it only as a temporary measure.

With regard to the economic depression, Mr. Jones said similar conditions had prevailed fifteen years after the Napoleonic wars. The same drastic remedies proposed by some parties at the present time had been proposed then, but were not adopted. "The solution is to be a little more astute in our ways. We must save our

BIG DEBT INCREASE

The $34,000,000 increase in the debt of the province during the present administration had gone into road development, unemployment relief and new services wanted by the public.

Mr. Jones went into some detail on the matter of unemployment relief. Expenditures on this account in British Columbia since 1921 had been $17,000,000, of which the province had put up $9,000,000.

ANSWERS-McGEOUGH
Mr. Jones, in his discussion of relief, seized the opportunity to answer the demand of the Vancouver Trades Council for resignation of the Tolmie Government over the charges of M. McGeough—alleging misappropriation of relief funds. He quoted from the findings of the relief commission in this respect and stated further that federal auditors had gone over all accounts and found not one case to substantiate the allegations.

And yet this irresponsible man makes these charges in Vancouver, according to the newspapers. And why? Because he lost his job with the federal government. It is almost a waste of time dealing with a thing like this, the minister declared.

"If we don't win this election, we will go out of office with a clean record," he continued. "There have been no charges against any minister of this administration during its term."

He discussed platforms of other

ANTI-KNOCK ENERGY

NOT JUST ONE JOB BUT ALL OF THEM BETTER

You have been offered "mileage" gasolines, "anti-knock" gasolines, and "quick-starting" gasolines. Here is a combination of all three. The three pure types of energy from the very heart of petroleum, with all the wasteful parts discarded.

QUICK ENERGY—For starting, pick-up, changes in motor speed. Very important to every driver. But only one of three essentials.

POWER ENERGY—Even the premium-priced fuels cannot excel Shell 3-energy in mileage, in power. Compare any fuel with Shell 3-energy gasoline—regardless of price. But mileage isn't the whole story.

ANTI-KNOCK ENERGY—Repeated anti-knock tests show that Shell 3-energy still has the highest octane rating of all the non-premium gasolines. But, after all, anti-knock is just one of three needed energies. You'll find all you can use OF ALL THREE in Shell 3-energy.

PUBLIC NOW AIR-MINDED

Great Development of Commercial Aviation Outlined By Ernest S. Roberts

"The British Empire is what it is because of the work of its navy in the past. There is no shadow of doubt that the fate of the empire in the future rests on the development of aviation," stated Ernest S. Roberts, Vancouver, publicity and traffic manager for the Wells Air Transport Company Limited, and aviation editor of the B.C. Journal of Commerce, in discussing commercial aviation before the Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

Mr. Roberts saw the last seven or eight years as the period in which commercial flying rose to prominence, and considered the year 1922 marked the turning point in the development of this type of aviation. Bound up with this surprising progress was the great advance in the public acceptance of commercial aviation and in the reliability of the various services offered.

Plans of Imperial Airways, with its two great routes to South Africa and India, were now flying 6,000 miles a day, and in the last half of 1922 carried 27,000 passengers. In the last seven years, the speaker continued, Imperial Airways had cut its general costs 50 per cent.

STRIDES IN CANADA
The great strides made by commercial flying in Canada were indicated by the 7,500,000 miles flown by 100 operators in 1931. In the Far North, travel by air had become almost a by-word, and prospectors and miners were finding the new mode of travel quite as cheap as musing and far more economical, because of heavier loads carried and less time taken.

Mr. Roberts said that when someone had suggested to a commercial plane company that it charge the price of a railway ticket plus Pullman for its air fare, he had been thought crazy. But aviation leaders had come around to this acceptance of low fares, and as a result the volume of passengers had increased by leaps and bounds. To-day it was possible to fly from San Francisco to New York in less than twenty-four hours for $100.

In the United States commercial lines in the last half of 1932 there had been one accident for every 574,000 miles of flying, and one fatality for every 9,000,000 miles, said Mr. Roberts in instancing the great safety of traveling by air.

Earlier in the talk, the speaker outlined a vast plan of Pan-American Airways which, if consummated, would be of great moment to British Columbia. The scheme involved an air route commencing in the Caribbean Sea field of Pan-America, extending down the east coast of South America, back up the west coast through the Mexican Peninsula, along the United States west coast to Vancouver, then up to Alaska, across the Behring Sea and into Asia. Substance was given to this rumor by the reports Pan-American had bought controlling interests in three Alaska companies and one in China.

"Your organization co-operated with the Department of Agriculture in staging the 1933 provincial seed fair at the Crystal Garden, while a special endeavor has been made along several other lines to render some concrete assistance in the general development of agriculture. The establishment of new ferry services has also been considered and discussed. The members of your debaters' group have been especially active, having held regular weekly gatherings throughout the winter months. They have also arranged debates with other bodies, and through their outstanding interest and ability they have been instrumental in reflecting much credit upon our Junior Chamber of Commerce."

"Valuable information pertaining to the production of motion pictures has been collected by the members of your film group, and has been placed on file for reference by anyone interested in the increased production of films within the British Empire."

Mr. Timmis, who was unanimously elected to the post of president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting yesterday evening, was vice-president during 1932-33.

"The latest activity, which was undertaken at the request of the City Council, was the management of the Victoria Day celebration, a complete report of which will be submitted in the near future."

In addition, reports of a generally encouraging nature and testifying to the amount of conscientious work being done by the various groups were submitted by Frank Partridge, chairman of the Canadian products group; Frank Hunter, chairman of the debaters' group; Leslie Osborne, chairman of the film group, and Warren Martin, representing the agricultural group.

The incoming president made a few appropriate remarks concerning his appointment and the new vice-president, Mr. Partridge, paid tribute to the services of Mr. George, the retiring president. Mr. George had previously thanked those officers and members of the Junior Chamber who had co-operated with him during his term of office.

A resolution opposing the meal tax and expressing the view the government should make it in operative or suspend it for a year pending charges in the regulations was passed. Speakers supporting the meal tax resolution said they felt the Junior Chamber should do something about the question, because the tax was detrimental to the tourist business and was creating ill-will among travelers, as well as causing dissent among restaurant and hotel men and the general public. Instances were cited of visitors announcing their intention of not coming again to Victoria because of their disgust with the tax. It was stated that the government realized the harm being done by the act and was anxious to find some way out. Officials had admitted collections to far had not covered the cost of administering the act.

HOBBY FAIR AT NANAIMO

Nanaimo, June 9.—The seventh annual hobby fair, held under the auspices of the Nanaimo Rotary Club, drew a large crowd of visitors to the school gymnasium Wednesday to view the display of the arts, handicrafts and domestic science by pupils of the Nanaimo and district schools. George S. Pearson, M.P.P., complimented the pupils on their splendid work. The fair, he said, had two definite purposes: first, to create a competitive spirit among the children, and second, to show parents what was being accomplished in the various branches of school work. The judges were: Domestic science exhibits, Miss McClellan and manual work, John Kyle.

Victoria, B.C., June 9 (Associated Press).—One workman and five children were killed to-day when a sandpit caved in. The children had been watching excavation work.

Catholic Women To Meet At Quebec For Sessions

League's National Convention Will Open Monday, Continuing For Week

Dignitaries of Church Among Speakers on Agenda; Busy Programme

Canadian Press
Quebec, June 9.—With delegates from all parts of the Dominion in attendance, the national convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, part of a world-wide movement of Catholic womenhood, devoted to service, opens here Monday. Sessions will continue throughout the week.

The Canadian League as a national body was organized thirteen years ago in 1920. It is a part of the International Union of Catholic Women's Leagues. Thirty-four countries are represented in the movement, with a combined membership of 28,000,000 women. All questions pertaining to women and children receive the attention of its members.

RECORD OF SERVICE
The Canadian section has played its part in the programme and to-day reviews a record of achievement. The national body was formed primarily to deal with the immigration problem which in the years immediately following the Great War was a subject of national importance. Since then its members have extended their service to many other forms of women's welfare.

A fine sense of co-operation on the part of assisting organizations was developed in the early years of the league's existence. The Sisters of Service, Travelers Aid and port workers made every effort to welcome the new Canadian and now that immigration is at a standstill are doing follow-up work in making her life less lonely. Girls are raised for hostels in every large city in Canada.

Child welfare, suffrage, public health, single standard for men and the league's myriad concerns are among the many problems which the league's members have taken up. The league's petition for peace presented to the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva, Petitioners to Parliament against enactment of new laws making divorce easier also were made.

Protests were lodged against publication in the press of lurid details in matters of divorce, social vice and many other matters. The league's efforts to improve the status of women throughout the world.

Money, clothing and food were contributed to the Saskatchewan Relief Commission during the drought years, and all the league's subdivisions take care of the needy and sick in their districts as well as co-operating with Federated Charities, Red Cross, Child Welfare Council and other charitable organizations.

Dignitaries of Church and State are to be the chief guests at the opening of the convention. Among them are His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve and many prominent educationalists and speakers. Ella Frances Lynde, well-known educationist of New York, will address the delegates. Her subject will be "Domestic Education Under Pastoral Guidance."

WOMEN'S COUNCIL POSTPONES MEETING

In order that its members may attend the public sessions of the Women's Minimum Wage Board to be held at the Parliament Buildings on Monday afternoon and evening, the Women's Council has postponed its monthly meeting until Monday, June 19. It is hoped that members of the Council will attend the meetings of the Wage Board, as matters of vital interest will be discussed.

PESSIMISTIC AS TO CONFERENCE

Winnipeg Editor Tells Institute Women Outcome of Economic Parley Doubtful

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 9.—No nation will assume the leadership at the World Economic Conference, in the opinion of J. W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, speaking before the Federated Women's Institute's biennial convention dinner here yesterday.

Great Britain is too busy playing her new game of "putting on tariffs," United States too occupied with her own problems and her economic isolation, and France too self-centred and self-sufficient to be very sympathetic, Mr. Dafoe declared. The conference will provide a fine opportunity for the various countries to apologize to one another for what they have done to one another.

PRESENTATION MADE
Presentation of a life membership certificate and a beautiful hand-hooded rug to the retiring president, Mrs. W. F. Cameron, Regina, featured yesterday's session of the biennial convention.

Life membership, highest award for national service, was presented to Mrs. Cameron in recognition of her four years' arduous work as chief officer. The rug was particularly appropriate as it was selected from the handicrafts exhibit sent from Nova Scotia.

INSTITUTIONAL REPORT
With the afternoon session devoted to a discussion of handicrafts, Mrs. W. A. McLeod, president of the Manitoba Handicrafts Guild, was the principal speaker. She outlined the history of the movement in Canada, and urged Women's Institutes to make a determined effort throughout the Dominion to preserve the old Indian crafts.

Brief resumes of provincial handicraft work were given by Mrs. Telford, Saskatchewan; Mrs. J. Macgregor, Smith, Edmonton; and Mrs. H. C. McGregor, Penticton.

Arrangements will be made for a campaign collection of trees and plants from "Women's Institute" members throughout Canada, for the international peace garden on the Manitoba-Minnesota boundary.

Rosa Bonheur wore men's clothing while making her famous animal paintings at fairs and stockyards.

NATIONALITY IS PROBLEM

J. B. Clearhue Addresses Liberal Women's Forum on Married Women's Status

Expressing the belief that the hardships now caused to women owing to the varying laws on the question of national status would vanish if one uniform law governing the nationality of women were in vogue throughout the world, J. B. Clearhue summed up an interesting address to-day with the hope that the League of Nations' efforts to this end would be crowned with success.

LAW'S ANOMALIES
Mr. Clearhue was speaking to the Liberal Women's Forum on "Nationality as Applied to Women," in which he traced the many difficulties facing the woman who marries a citizen of another country than her own. Although the law to-day recognizes the equality of the sexes, yet on the question of nationality there was no such equality as the acquired nationality of a woman taking her husband's nationality under British law.

Prior to January, 1932, a British woman marrying an alien lost her British citizenship. But in the United States since 1922 a modification of an American did not acquire his nationality, so that a Canadian woman marrying an American was without a country, and lost all the privileges of citizenship. This is a modification of the act last year in Canada permitted a British woman marrying an alien to remain a British subject until such time as she acquired the nationality of her husband.

MANY CASES CITED
The speaker cited instances of the problems which resulted from the law as it stood prior to 1932, including three Canadian sisters who are married to three Americans. One married in 1920 and became an American citizen, the other married last year and remains a Canadian, the other, who married in 1925, has no country as Canada had taken away her nationality and the United States refuses to give it to her.

Another case of an English girl who married a Swiss and came to Canada, was recalled by Mr. Clearhue. She lost her British nationality of marriage, but her husband left her and went to the States with another woman. After the birth of her child she became destitute but could not get a mother's pension because she was not a British subject though she had never been out of the British Empire. Wishing to return to her parents in England she applied for a passport but was refused as she was still Swiss in the eyes of the law.

WOMEN'S PROTEST
Reference was made to the League of Nations attempt to codify the laws of nationality in 1920 through the Hague convention, which provided that a married woman retain her own nationality, unless she acquired her husband's nationality through the laws of her country. Women's international organizations have attacked

NATIONALITY IS PROBLEM

J. B. Clearhue Addresses Liberal Women's Forum on Married Women's Status

Expressing the belief that the hardships now caused to women owing to the varying laws on the question of national status would vanish if one uniform law governing the nationality of women were in vogue throughout the world, J. B. Clearhue summed up an interesting address to-day with the hope that the League of Nations' efforts to this end would be crowned with success.

LAW'S ANOMALIES
Mr. Clearhue was speaking to the Liberal Women's Forum on "Nationality as Applied to Women," in which he traced the many difficulties facing the woman who marries a citizen of another country than her own. Although the law to-day recognizes the equality of the sexes, yet on the question of nationality there was no such equality as the acquired nationality of a woman taking her husband's nationality under British law.

Prior to January, 1932, a British woman marrying an alien lost her British citizenship. But in the United States since 1922 a modification of an American did not acquire his nationality, so that a Canadian woman marrying an American was without a country, and lost all the privileges of citizenship. MARY'S
KITCHEN

"KEEPING THINGS WARM" CAN BE EASY

By SISTER MARY

All through the summer months, while the days are long, many homemakers are confronted with the problem of keeping meals hot and palatable for the members of the family. It is not a simple matter, especially in the deep snow of winter, trips to the kitchen, when the end of the day brought no warm house and steaming meal, but only rest under canvas and a meal cooked up as an open fire.

The few white people in the vast foothill country doctored each other as best they could. Mrs. McDougall has set bones, pulled teeth, treated gangrenous wounds, and nursed through epidemics which swept the Indian encampments. Groceries were bought at Fort Benton, Montana, and other supplies at Winnipeg, the nearest trading station.

The trip to and from Winnipeg took six months, and they usually drove in light carts, said Mrs. McDougall, because they could be lifted out of the mud.

Mrs. P. J. Shaw of Midnapore told of her first trip from Winnipeg with her husband and small children, when they drove their cows and other goods with them. The mud was two feet deep where they unloaded their supplies at the end of the railway.

Women of the early west were occupied with housekeeping under difficult conditions and had not much time to take part in the other phases of pioneer life, said Mrs. George Lane, talking on early cattle ranching. The spring and fall round-ups were the events of the year for the cattlemen, she said, for the southern half of the province was one vast range, where all the calves had to be gathered and branded, and where the ranchers computed their gains and losses. All the ranchers of the south co-operated in this vast affair, which lasted for several weeks.

A canoe trip through the lakes and rivers of northern Manitoba at the beginning of the century was a dangerous adventure described by Mrs. John McDougall from a diary she wrote at the time. With her husband and small son, Mrs. McDougall traveled from Lake Winnipeg to Norway House, most of the time without a guide. The diary, written briefly and simply, told of thirteen portages in one day, of being lost for ten days, alone in that vast country of rock and forest and water. Banquet, bacon and tea in varied order were the only menus they had.

Pioneer Thrills
Are Recalled By Alberta Women

Canadian Press

Calgary, June 9.—"Nothing is the same but the mountains and the sky." The life of a white woman in Alberta sixty-three years ago, described by Mrs. David McDougall, left her hearers feeling that the mere woman escapes almost indescribable hardship, but that she misses, too, many of the thrills of a vigorous life full of accomplishment and purpose.

Mrs. McDougall was one of the pioneer women of Alberta who spoke of their reminiscences at a tea arranged in their honor by the Women's Canadian Club. She used to go on trips in the deep snow of winter, trips weeks long, when the end of the day brought no warm house and steaming meal, but only rest under canvas and a meal cooked up as an open fire.

The few white people in the vast foothill country doctored each other as best they could. The V.O.N. carries on bedside nursing, post-natal and pre-natal care, and educational work among the city's sick, filling a very great need among patients whose circumstances, financial or otherwise, preclude their being treated in hospital. The economic conditions of the last year has led to a tremendous increase in the number of cases among people who have not the means to pay even the small fees charged by the V.O.N., and it is with a view to raising funds to carry on this humanitarian work that to-morrow's appeal is being made. Headquarters for the tag day will be at 619 View Street.

Associated Press
Los Angeles, June 9.—Elliott Roosevelt, twenty-two, was in seclusion today following announcement of his divorce plans. The air-line of which he is general manager said it knew nothing of his whereabouts.

While Elliott's mother hurried back to Washington, D.C., "I had refused to admit a formal separation until I had talked the whole thing over with my mother," he said. He added that both he and his wife, the Philadelphia society heiress, disliked the idea of divorce, but that they were "convinced it is the best thing for both of us."

Miss Goggins, twenty-five-year-old, attractive Fort Worth, brunette, declares there is no romance between her and Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the President.

Her statement came after Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt declined to comment on the reported romance.

Miss Goggins said, "I think it is too bad to have all of this stirred up about nothing. We just happened to meet."

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

ESTABLISH REGULAR HOURS FROM FIRST DAY
Fortunate is the young mother who has an excellent baby nurse to start her young hopeful on the right foot. Those first two weeks of a baby's life are quite sufficient to organize or regulate baby's day, or they may be more than enough to completely spoil him. Even this early life baby finds that the activities of his day are ordered not by his feeble yappings but by that entirely mysterious but powerful tick-tock of which he is to know more later.

FIRST FEW DAYS
For the first few days, until the true milk "comes in," the baby is to be breast every six hours. This is to accustom him to the ceremony of nursing and he in turn stimulates the breast. The colostrum, which is present in the breast the first few days, is a nutritious and slightly laxative fluid. It offers baby some necessary nutrition and helps him to get rid of the contents of the bowels, a black, tar-like substance called meconium.

After the third day, perhaps even the second, baby is given his nursing at four-hour intervals. This is the accepted period for all babies over six pounds in weight at birth, and is extremely satisfactory. Baby gains as well, the mother has a less strenuous and tiresome life and is, therefore, a

THAT "LIKE THE DICKENS'" FEELING
IS LIVERWake Up Your Liver Bile.
Feel Fit. You Needn't use
Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital two pounds of bile daily, into your bowels, that makes you feel so off-colour. Lack of bile means poor digestion. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of gas, bloating, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brownish-yellow tinge to your mouth and bad breath. Your skin's unhealthily and often your head aches. Your whole system suffers out of it.

How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking a pinch of salt, or a laxative candy, or chewing gum, or roughage? These only move the bowels, and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver bile.

Avoid calomel (mercury). Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. They're purely vegetable, gentle, sure and safe. They'll make you feel a million times better in a very short time. Don't waste your money on cheap imitations. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the box at all drug stores.

better nurse, and the stomach has long intervals of rest, which allow for leisurely and complete nutrition. The processes of digestion are never speedy and feeding baby too often is one source of digestive irritation which leads to colic, discomfort and crying.

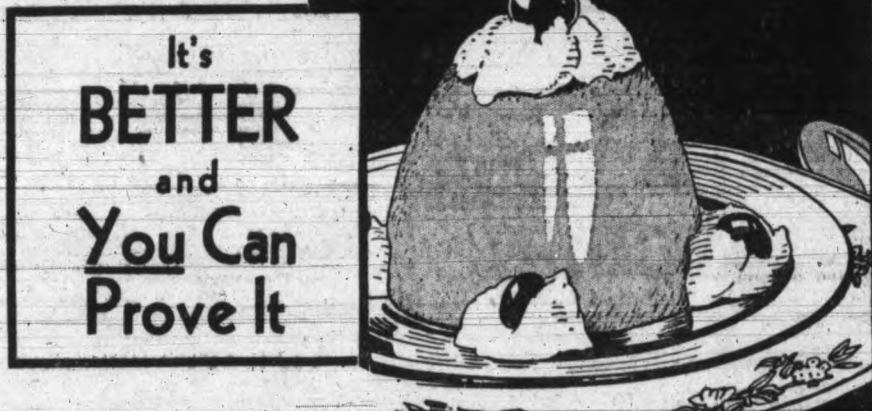

ESTABLISHING ROUTINE
For the first few days, or even the first week, it is essential to waken the baby for his regular nursing periods. It takes a surprisingly short time for babies to learn to waken exactly on the hour and open their mouths for their food like hungry birds. Anyone who says that babies know best when they should be fed has never been through the experience of training a baby to regularity. It is a simple and easy process, and baby falls readily and happily into this smooth rhythm of his routine.

"SALADA" TEA

"Fresh from the Gardens"

"The Sealed Trunk"

By HENRY KITCHELL WEBSTER

"No, naturally not. I put it away before my father died. I'd given him a paper to take care of for her, and that now she needed it terribly, and she thought I might be able to help her find it. I don't know exactly why I thought she might be the woman you told me about."

"Well, she is, all right. Anybody could see that."

This, she reflected, was as much as to say that she was a fool not to have seen it for herself at the first glance. He really was infuriating. He was staring at her now in a blank abstraction, as if he didn't know she was there. When he waked up it was to ask further questions.

"What does she ask you to do? Let her come and see you and go over your father's papers and pick out what she likes?"

"All she asked me to do," Rhoda told him, resolved to stifle her wrath until she burst, "was to come and lunch with her at the Tip-Top Inn to-day as soon as I could, so that she could tell me all about it. And before I went I thought I'd ask you to tell me..."

"Rhoda, you're not going?"

He had had the grace to put an upward quirk on that last word to make it sound like a question, but he'd started, she thought, to tell her she shouldn't.

"Of course I'm going," she said. "She may be all right even if she is the woman you heard talking to Mr. Lewis. Anyhow, I'm going to find out."

"You won't find out a thing from her. That woman's clever, Rhoda, and she's dangerous. You'd better let her alone. Why, she's got you half fooled already."

At that, since it wasn't feasible to shake him till his teeth rattled, she turned and left him with a rush. Unreasonably she was a little disappointed that Martin was nowhere about, not even in the office, when she set out at noon to her rendezvous. She mustn't waste time thinking about him now, though—except as a warning not to lose her temper again. Her only reason for going to lunch with the woman was, as she had told Martin, to discover what it was all about; why these people she'd never heard of before wouldn't let her alone. She'd get nowhere by acting suspicious or by asking skeptical questions. The more confidently this Claire Cleveland took her for a light-wit the more she'd be likely to give away.

CHAPTER VI

The first thought that flashed into her mind when she saw the woman who was sitting at the specified table was that there must be some mistake about it. Nothing the black hat and the dark blue dress didn't altogether do away with it, either. She'd expected a very different-looking person. This woman looked rather nice. She had delicate features and blue eyes, and you'd guess her age in the early twenties—well, twenty-five or not much over.

The instant she saw Rhoda she got up and came around the table to meet her. "I'd know you anywhere, Miss McFarland," she said. "I was sure

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"We didn't want to travel this year, but simply couldn't afford to keep our home open."

I wasn't mistaken. You're your father's daughter, all right."

There flashed into Rhoda's memory something Martin had said about the woman at the Alhambra, that she looked younger somehow than her voice sounded. It settled any possible doubt about her identity. This woman's voice was hard and metallic, with the silver playing worn off in spots. She mustn't be thinking things like this! But she must talk! She had a rehearsed line that would do. "It's perfectly marvelous to meet someone who knew my father," she said.

"Let's not try to talk," the woman suggested softly. "Until we've settled the important question of lunch."

Her manners, Rhoda reflected, belonged with her voice rather than with her looks. She insisted on ordering an "extravagant" lunch, and the way she overrode Rhoda's protest was rather too self-satisfied.

"I guess the first thing you'll want to know," she began as soon as they were rid of the waiter, "is how I found you. It was pure luck—if there is such a thing as luck, really. I saw you the other night at the Alhambra—that is, I thought it was you, only it seemed too good to be true. You were dancing with a gentleman I know, Mr. Max Lewis, and as soon as I got a chance I asked him about you. But he turned out he didn't know very much about you, himself. So I told him he'd got to find out for me, and yesterday he sent me your address. I don't know yet how he found it out."

Rhoda heard an edge in the hard voice that suggested she wanted to know. "On. Babe must have told him," she said.

"He brought her home that night. We live together, you see."

Then, with a rush, she went on into another speech she'd rehearsed. "You must be wondering why I changed my name. You see, I wasn't of age when my father died. And I didn't want a lot of people bothering and interfering—telling me what I could do and what I couldn't. And I thought it would be easier to be let alone if I changed to Rhoda White. I could change back now, of course, only there isn't any reason why I should."

"Well, I'm glad it didn't bother you that I knew it," she went on. "Her voice gave her away every time. It was that now with disappointment over the loss of a weapon she'd counted on. You won't mind, then, if I call you Miss McFarland?"

"Not a bit! My best friends know it's my real name. Only, why don't you call me Rhoda?" She hoped her voice didn't give her away, too. The next moment she had to manage to call her companion Claire.

"I'm a working girl, myself," said Claire. "I've been until lately. Are you a stenographer? That's what I was. There may be ways that look easier, but in the long run they don't pay. Whereas now, you see, I'm never out of a good job, and the last man I worked for gave me a tip on the stock market that I made enough out of so that I don't have to work any more—ever, unless I like. He owed it to me, all right. I'd made him more than that. I'd practically managed all his affairs for six years. It was easy, though, didn't take near all my time and I used to do outside work—afternoons and sometimes evenings. That's how I happened to work for your father."

"Oh, I see," Rhoda agreed brightly. "I remember how often he used to go back to work evenings. I always hated to have him do it."

"You poor kid! You must have been lonesome!"

Uncle Wiggly's Baby Carriage

By HOWARD E. GARIS

One day Mrs. Bob Cat, the wife of the Bad Chap who so often had tried to catch Uncle Wiggly, called to her husband and said:

"Will you take Pitzer out for a little ride this morning?"

"Oh, I can't," mewed Mr. Bob Cat. "I must go see the Fox and the Wolf. I have a date with them."

"What about?" asked the lady Bob Cat as she put Pitzer, her newest baby, into the carriage. "Why do you want to see the Fox and the Wolf?"

"Well, if you must know," snarled her husband, "we are going to try and catch that rabbit."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Mrs. Bob Cat, sarcastic like. "If I believe that you will tell me another, I suppose!"

"It's true," said the Bob Cat. "I've got to help my friends catch Uncle Wiggly."

"You've got to help me by taking Pitzer out for a ride in her carriage," said Mrs. Bob Cat. "I have a lot to do around the den this morning and I want you to take care of the way."

Here she is in her baby carriage. All

Soon he was asleep!

You have to do it to wheel her around for an hour."

"Oh, all right!" growled the Bob Cat. "But I want to help catch Uncle Wiggly."

"Like you did the last time, I suppose," chuckled the lady Bob Cat. "You and the Fox and the Wolf went to sleep in the grass at the clover patch, and Baby Bunty saw you and he told Uncle Wiggly and he got away with all the party before you. Bad Chaps, awakened. How about that?"

"It happened just that way," mewed the Bob Cat. "But this time we have a new way of catching Mr. Longears."

"You can talk that over with your friends, the Fox and the Wolf, after you finish wheeling Pitzer," said Mrs. Bob Cat. "So she made her husband start pushing the baby carriage in which the little Bob Cat, named Pitzer, was asleep."

After a while, when he had wheeled Pitzer up and down the woodland path, the Bob Cat saw the Fox and the Wolf coming toward him.

"Ha! Ha! Look at Bobbie!" laughed the Fox.

"He's a kindergarten nursery puss!" said the Wolf.

"Say, look here, you two!" snarled Mr. Bob Cat. "I don't want to wheel the baby, but my wife made me."

"I thought you were coming to see us and talk about catching Uncle Wiggly," growled the Wolf.

"If you will wait a minute, I'll finish wheeling Pitzer," said the Bob Cat.

"You must come now," said the Fox. "Leave Pitzer here in her carriage. We'll go off to the woods a little way and think up a plan to catch Uncle Wiggly. Pitzer will be safe here until you come back."

"O. K.," said Mr. Bob Cat, so he went off with his friends. But while he was gone his wife came looking for him to say she would take care of Pitzer now. And when the lady Bob Cat saw Pitzer all alone in her carriage, with her father gone, Mrs. Bob Cat got angry.

"What's the idea?" she growled. "Bob goes away and leaves our little darling alone in the woods. I'll play a trick on him. I'll take her out of the carriage and carry her home. When Bob comes back, I'll suppose he has gone off with his friends, the Fox and the Wolf, why, Bob will be very much surprised. It will be a lesson to him when after this, he looks in the carriage and doesn't find Pitzer. He will think someone has taken her."

So saying, Mrs. Bob Cat picked up the little sleeping Pitzer and carried the little Bob Cat back to the den. Mrs. Bob Cat laughed to think how surprised her husband would be when he found the carriage empty.

Now, soon after this, and while the Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat were still in the woods talking about how to catch the carriage empty, Uncle Wiggly, he saw the baby carriage, and not knowing whose it was, thought he would jump in and take a sleep.

"It is a nice soft carriage," said the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose, "and there is a blanket in it that I can use to cover myself. Maybe this is Mrs. Twinsty's carriage. But she won't mind if I take a nap in it."

So Uncle Wiggly snuggled down in the baby Bob Cat's carriage and soon

Modern Rule Is to Do Other Fellow Before He Can Do You; Golden Rule Is Bunk, Asserts Reader.
On the Contrary, Says Dorothy Dix, Surest Way to Get What You Want Is Still to Treat Others as You Would Like to Be Treated Yourself

"Don't talk to me about doing to others as you would be done by," said a young girl to me the other day. "The modern rule is 'do the other fellow as he can do you.' All that Pollyanna business is pre-war stuff. It doesn't work."

But it does," I told her. "The Golden Rule always works. It always and it always will work everywhere under all conditions. It is the inflexible rule of human conduct. In doubt as to what to do or you have only to do or say the thing that you would like to have or said to you, and you will be right. We have only to put out on ourselves to know before how other people are going to act in any situation."

"Take popularity, for instance. Every girl desires to be popular. She wants to be loved and admired. Those who know her, she wants to like. She wants to see eyes lighted at her coming, and to know that wherever she goes she is welcome. I get hundreds of letters from girls asking how they can make themselves popular, and they seem to think there is some secret, dark mystery about it."

Not at all. The only magic formula you have to practice in order to lure to you and make them eat out of your hand, is simply to treat them as you would like to be treated yourself. When you meet a strange girl, you like to be cordial and friendly and not try to high-tail her. You like her to be able and easily pleased and to fall in gracefully with what the others are doing."

"You like a girl who is generous and who shares her chocolate creams and her boy friends with other girls, and who doesn't poach on other girls' preserves and steal their 'steadies' from them. You like a girl who is a good sport, who is willing to play other people's games and who doesn't get mad and pack up her doll-rags and go home if anyone doesn't do her way."

You like a girl for a friend who doesn't purr at you one minute and claw the next, who doesn't say that she feels it to be her sacred duty as a friend to tell you every mean thing she has ever heard about you, and that your new dress makes you look fat, and everybody is saying you are running after Johnny. You like a friend who takes the trouble to do nice things for you, who remembers anniversaries, who is never too busy to write notes of thanks or condolence, and who rejoices with you in your good fortune and weeps with you in your sorrow."

"Well, to be popular you have only to be the sort of girl who makes a hit with you, and to have friends you have only to be the kind of friend that you long for yourself."

Many shy people complain that they never know what to talk about when they are in company, but they have only to apply the Golden Rule to their conversation to be regarded as spellbinders. If we were all Truthful Johns and Sincere Janes, we would admit that the most interesting topic on earth to talk about is the one of which we never tire, is ourselves. We could discourse on that subject for hours, and everybody would be saying you are running after Johnny. You like a friend who takes the trouble to do nice things for you, who remembers anniversaries, who is never too busy to write notes of thanks or condolence, and who rejoices with you in your good fortune and weeps with you in your sorrow."

"Well, even as you and I, all the balance of humanity loves to talk about itself, and so you have only to press down slightly on the self-starter of any man's or woman's egoism and their ears to establish your reputation as a delightful conversationalist."

"You want to get on in business? The Golden Rule is the only never-fail rule to success. Every man and woman who ever climbed to the top of the ladder are those who gave to their bosses the kind of service that they had wanted some employee to give them if they had been the head of the firm. Every bank that stays solvent, every honest man at the head of a big business that endures gives just weights and measures and guarantees quality."

"The kind of men you want to deal with are those you can trust. The ones you go to are those whose word is their bond and whose scales and yardstick you do not have to watch."

"Do unto others as you would like to be done by in the way of good service, honesty, courtesy and consideration and you can cash in on it every time."

"And the Golden Rule is the answer to the conundrum of how to be happy though married. Every husband knows how he would like his wife to treat him. He would like her to look up to him and admire him. He would like her to show him sympathy and understanding. He would like her to jolly him along and make him feel that he was about seven feet tall and as strong as Gene Tunney."

"Would there be any disgruntled wives if husbands practiced the Golden Rule to the women to whom they are married and told them how much they loved them and loved them and what world-beaters they considered them? Now not."

"Nor would there be any roaming husbands if wives treated their husbands as they themselves want to be treated and showed them their tenderness and appreciation and affection that they crave themselves."

"And so there you are, my dear. I said to the girl, 'with the Golden Rule working, times may change, but humanity never changes, and we are all in with the same kind of sweet tooth.'"

Conquest of the Air

SPEED AND SAFETY

During the years from 1906 to 1921, most all speed records for airplanes were made by Frenchmen; but aviators from other countries—England, Italy and the United States—have held the records since 1922.

Passengers ready to be dropped from airplane

In 1906 Santos-Dumont piloted an airplane at the record speed of twenty miles per hour. Compete that with the speed made last year by the Italian aviator, Neri—430 miles per hour! Neri's record was made in a biplane. It is safe to say that present records for seaplanes and ordinary airplanes will be beaten as the months go by. Within a few years, aviators may be sending their planes through space at 700 or 800 miles per hour. To do this they may need to use the stratisphere, which is region of calm air more than eight miles above sea level. Yes, men are traveling through the air with great speed. Most airplanes do not travel more than two or three miles per minute; but some planes can make six or seven miles per minute. When the record goes up to fourteen or fifteen miles per minute, even that may not be the limit of speed.

In regard to safety, much progress has been made. Great pains are taken in building airplane motors and they are not so likely to misbehave as in years gone by. Wings and other parts of airplanes are tested with care, and that adds to their safety.

Much more remains to be done, however, to make air travel as safe as it should be; and I am interested when I learn of a new invention to add to the safety of those who fly.

One invention provides seats which can be thrust from the airplane so that a passenger will fall to earth, pulling with him a parachute attached to the bottom of the plane. This helps to avoid troubles which have been met by persons not used to the operation of parachutes.

When the pilot knows, far enough in advance, that the plane is going to crash, he can push levers to cause seats to be thrust out. Then the passengers just keep their seats while they drop to the ground.

It seems to me that a parachute passenger will fall to earth, pulling with him a parachute attached to the bottom of the plane. This helps to avoid troubles which have been met by persons not used to the operation of parachutes.

BODY RECOVERED

Columbia, S.C., June 9 (Associated Press)—After the body of an eleven-year-old negro who had drowned had been sought by various means for more than twenty-four hours, an aged negro appeared with a bundle of corn-fodder. "Dis' head with show 'em," he said, tossing the bundle into the Congaree River. Searchers followed the bundle five miles to a boat landing, where the body was recovered.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous
Daily Use of Bismarck Magnesia Overcomes Troubles Caused by Acid Indigestion
Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full, bloated feeling, after eating, is almost certain evidence of too much hydrochloric acid in the stomach, causing so-called "acid indigestion." Acid stomachs are dangerous. Too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leads to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal function of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.
It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to try to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any drugstore a little Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in water right after eating. This will drive out the gas, wind and bloated feeling, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent the formation and stop the source, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder form—never in liquid or milk) is harmless, inexpensive, and a fine remedy for acid stomach. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no fear of indigestion. (Adv.)

MRS. DORIS A'DAMES

Mrs. Doris A'Dames has been placed in charge of the new store which D'Allaird's has opened this week at 711 Yates Street.

It has been decorated throughout in a blended shade of green, which harmonizes with all colors.

According to Alec Parkes, general sales manager for D'Allaird's, who left yesterday evening for the east, the organization now embraces twenty-two retail stores, extending from Halifax to Victoria, and a factory in Montreal employing 300 people. The business, he states, was commenced in 1914 on a capital of $500.

ASKS INJUNCTION ON BROADCASTS

Associated Press
New Orleans, June 9.—The New Orleans daily newspaper, yesterday filed suit in civil district court for an injunction against radio station WDSU to prohibit the broadcasting of news from the newspaper columns.

The newspapers said in the petition that the suit was based on a decision of the United States Supreme Court that newspapers have a very definite and distinct property right in the news they gather and distribute and that it is illegal for any one to make use of this news, especially for commercial purposes.

Hinchliffe May Be Farm Head

Minister of Education Proving Regular Jack-of-all-jobs For Premier Tolmie

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, lawyer, lecturer, architect, school teacher, clergyman, soldier and politician is now in a position to assume another lofty position it was revealed by an announcement in the B.C. Gazette today.

In future he may add "agriculturist" and by reason of the fact that he may be at the fountain head he may add "expert agriculturist."

Mr. Hinchliffe has been signally honored by his leader, Dr. Tolmie, as time the Premier, who took over the portfolio of Minister of Agriculture when Hon. W. A. Atkinson dropped out of public life, in away, Mr. Hinchliffe will be the province's first agriculturist. This was provided for Tuesday when an order-in-council was passed setting out that "The Honorable Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education and Lands, be Acting Minister of Agriculture in the place of the Honorable Simon Fraser Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, at any time the said Simon Fraser Tolmie may be absent from the capital."

As only recently Mr. Hinchliffe was also created a forestry expert by his elevation to the position of Minister of Lands he is reported to be blushing under the tribute to his many talents.

NORMAL SCHOOL CLOSING BANQUET

Minister Praises Superintendent Efficiency of B.C.

Pleased to Note Increase in Male Teachers This Year

Tribute was paid by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, to the superintendent of education and the department for the advances in educational work in the province, during an address at the annual closing banquet of the Provincial Normal School yesterday evening.

It would be as well, Mr. Hinchliffe thought, if teachers and students alike would attribute to the superintendent's department the virtues of British Columbia's educational methods.

Referring to the teachers, he said: "The teacher has a very important place in the community, particularly in the rural community; much depends on him, and in many places he is actually the representative of Canadian institutions and ideals."

The minister commented on the increased number of male students at the Normal School this year and considered that it would be advantageous to the profession since it would partially eliminate the necessity of sending young women out to schools in the outlying districts.

Mrs. Jean Lang, member of the student body of the Normal School, in proposing the toast, "The Department of Education," stated that it was a privilege to receive education in a province recognized as one of the foremost in Canada in its educational methods and paid tribute to the Department of Education for its efficient system.

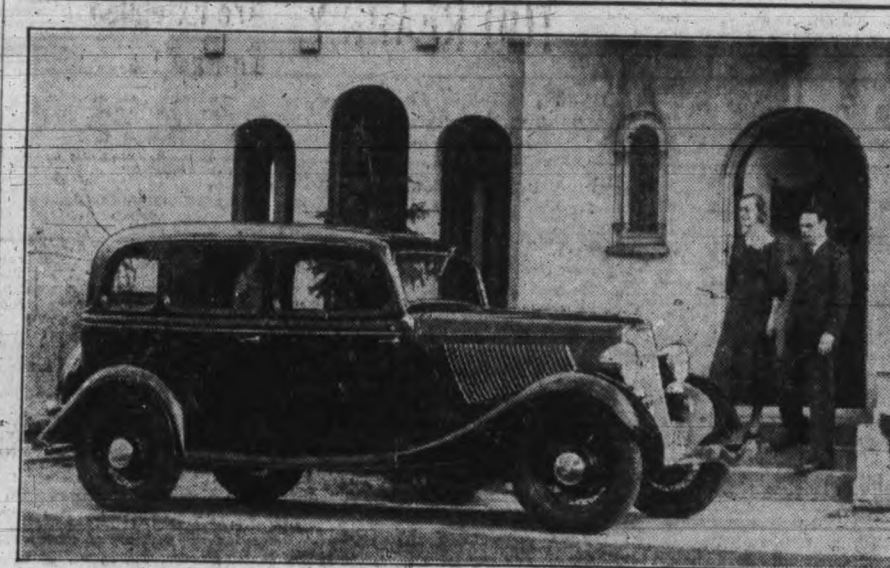

R. C. Grant, also of the student body, included the critic teacher and staff of the Normal School in his toast to "Our Guests," and expressed the appreciation of the students for the tolerant attitude of the critic teachers when students made their first venture into the realms of teaching.

MUSICAL SELECTIONS

Between the addresses musical selections were rendered, including violin selections by Miss Sledge, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hargreaves and orchestral numbers by the eight-piece school orchestra under the direction of F. T. C. Wickett. The formal banquet programme was followed by a dance.

Principal V. B. Deaton of the Normal School occupied the chair and invited guests included: Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Dr. S. J. Willis (superintendent of education), and Mrs. Willis; Mr. and Mrs. D. B. MacLaurin; Mr. and Mrs. George Deane; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fraser; B. E. Freeman (vice-principal); and Mrs. Freeman, G. B. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Campbell, Miss Lilla B. Leister, Miss Barbara Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. John Gough, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. C. Wickett, Sergeant-Major and Mrs. Bain, Sergeant-Major Wallace, Miss Olive Piercy, Miss Kate Scanlan, Miss Isabel Barron, Captain and Mrs. MacLaurin, representing the Department of Education or the Normal School or Model School staffs, and the following, representing other schools: From the city, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McInnes, Miss Olive Heritage and Mrs. K. E. Ford; from Oak Bay, Captain and Mrs. G. Dexter; from Esquimalt, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Crookman; from Saanichton, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harman, William O'Neill and Miss C. Wright, and from outside schools, Miss Peacey.

Aspirin Safe Home Remedy, But Beware Of Narcotic Drugs

Latter Should Never Be Used Except on Advice of Physician; Iodine and Mercurochrome Are Approved Antiseptics By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The most commonly used general pain reliever is acetylsalicylic acid, commonly called aspirin.

So far as is known aspirin is relatively harmless except for a few people who are especially sensitive to it. Such people commonly represent as being allergic to aspirin.

One aspirin is as good as another, provided it is up to the standard of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

Among the strongest of medicinal preparations are the narcotics and anesthetics. Narcotics should never be used by anyone without a physician's prescription and, indeed, no drug that has to be administered with a hypodermic syringe should find a place in the average family medicine chest.

There are all sorts of antiseptics available for use on the skin. In first aid and also for gargling and for washing and preparations of the mouth.

The most widely known skin antiseptics are tincture of iodine and 2 per cent mercurochrome. The Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association permits advertising of recognized antiseptics for first aid, and tincture of iodine and mercurochrome are included among such preparations.

This same council has concluded that no antiseptic substance is of value when used as a gargle for the destruction of germs in the mouth, and throat. If the antiseptic is applied directly on a swab so that the material is held in direct contact with the infected infection it may have some definite use.

Among the antiseptics approved by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry are preparations of hexylresorcinol and preparations of metaphen, also neutral solutions of chlorinated soda and hydrogen peroxide.

The council has not approved antiseptics commonly represented as being useful in the relief of all sorts of infections of the throat and also for the prevention of various types of infectious diseases, including colds.

One of the best old-fashioned antiseptics is carbolic acid.

SUICIDE IN MONTREAL

Montreal, June 9 (Canadian Press).—A verdict of "probable suicide while in a state of mental depression" was rendered by Coroner Lorenzo Prince in the case of Michael James Timmins, forty-two, of the firm of J. R. Timmins, stockbrokers, and eldest son of Noah Timmins, Canadian mining magnate, who was found dead in his home here yesterday.

Windows and door of the room in which the body was found were stuffed with paper, while the jets of a gas stove were open.

DUNCAN SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Duncan, June 9.—The regular meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board was held Wednesday evening. Principal Hodson of the High School was present, and advocated the use of an "intelligence" test in connection with the re-examination of pupils for high school entrance. The proposal was favorably received. The board also approved of this plan for re-examining a junior business course next year.

The Duncan studio was granted permission to take photographs of classes. The resignation of Miss June Phair was received and accepted.

The board will send a letter to Miss Graham expressing appreciation of her teaching of music in the school. Reports from Mr. Fraser, school inspector, were received.

The monthly meeting of the Cowichan Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, was held Wednesday afternoon. The vice-regent, Mrs. H. Price, was in the chair.

Arrangements for the garden party to be held at the home of Mrs. F. H. Price were made.

The sum of $10 each was voted to the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts for summer camp expenses.

The hearing will proceed after the criminal appeals have been dealt with by the court.

Seeks Damages For Drinking Beverage

Before the B.C. Court of Appeal yesterday afternoon the case of Willis v. Coca Cola Company of Canada was heard with J. A. MacInnes appearing for the appellant, Willis, and C. H. Locke for the respondent company.

The action was on a claim for damages by the appellant for injuries he claimed to have suffered through drinking a bottle of Coca Cola. It was tried before a jury and dismissed. Negligence in manufacturing of the beverage was alleged.

The arguments on behalf of the respondent was that the liquid was prepared so it would reach the consumer in the condition it was manufactured, being in a sealed container.

The hearing will proceed after the criminal appeals have been dealt with by the court.

MONEY IN HAY

Blithe, Calif., June 9 (Associated Press).—Some of the "long green" in W. W. White's recently bailed hay is not alfalfa, he fears. While supervising the cutting and baling of his eighty-acre crop, he lost his wallet containing $400. Now he is in a quandary. Should he open all the bales—or should he let some nonchalant cow masticate a $400 breakfast?

FINE CAST AT THE EMPIRE

Tom Walls and Winnifred Shutter Have Leading Roles in "A Night Like This"

Although to theatregoers the story of "A Night Like This" now being shown at the Empire Theatre, is well known, the typical Lynn-Walls atmosphere will make it a welcome revival, and those who are strangers to the story will have with delight a combination that has won such popularity.

Winnifred Shutter, Mary Brough and J. Robertson have all add to the confusion and gaiety.

It is the confusion that results from trivial misunderstandings and the well-meaning efforts of the players to "sort out" the tangles which makes the play by Ben Travers so mirth-provoking. In "A Night Like This," Tom Walls is an Irish policeman who learns from his sweetheart that in the night club where she is employed as cashier, gambling is rife. Spurred on by the hope of promotion, P.C. Michael Mahoney tackles the job single-handed.

George O'Brien has found a screen pal at last.

Hereafter the Fox western star has played a "lone wolf" part in his cinematic tales of the cattle country, doing his fighting single-handed and getting little assistance from anyone.

In his newest vehicle, "Smoke Lightning," now at the Playhouse Theatre, O'Brien is teamed with Frank Atkinson, the British comedian, who has the role of a loyal but somewhat indifferent fellow cowpuncher.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
When Clyde Beatty, world's greatest trainer of wild animals, enters the arena with his forty-three lions and tigers he is practically unarmed, since his equipment consists of a whip, a revolver loaded with blank cartridges and a kitchen chair which he holds before him for protection. Beatty and his jungle-bred animals are featured in "The Big Cage," the Universal circus drama which is now being shown on the screen of the Columbia Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Laughter is Lee Tracy's formula for everything. The actor, playing the fast-moving news correspondent in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Clear All Wires," now showing at the Capitol Theatre, has this philosophy so worked out that it's not only his panacea for all ills—but his working rules "for any task."

"You can't respect troubles that you can't respect. If you don't respect them they won't trouble you," says Lee. For instance, he was handed a script with long speeches, and told to

SHIP SUBSIDY

William G. Macbeth, Scottish Shipowner, Opposed to Government Subsidization

A Scottish shipowner with a penchant for cattle breeding, William G. Macbeth of "Dunira," Comrie, Perthshire, is visiting Victoria with his family in the course of a world tour. He is president of Macbeth and Company, shipowners of Glasgow, vice-president of the Aberdeen Angus Society and president of the Shetland Pony Society.

As a breeder of pedigree stock, chiefly Aberdeen Angus cattle and Shetland ponies, he is well known throughout the United Kingdom and in many parts of the empire. His cattle have taken championships at all the big shows, including the Royal Society's Show in England and the Highland Agricultural Society's Show at Glasgow.

UNFAIR VIEWS

Mr. Macbeth is strongly opposed to government subsidization of shipping. He referred critically to the subsidization of private shipping companies by the U.S. government, as compared with the non-subsidization of British companies, whose only revenue from the government came from mail contracts.

The British lines, he said, were subsidizing the competition in operation against the subsidized lines of other countries.

Macbeth and Company of Glasgow are operators of tramp tonnage and one of the free-harbour frequently seen on the Pacific under charter, the company's present tonnage is laid up on the Clyde. Mr. Macbeth said, because of the depressed state of the shipping business in Canada.

"Before world trade can be revived the exchange must be stabilized," said Mr. Macbeth in explaining that the world is looking hopefully to an agreement being reached on this vital question at this month's World Economic conference in London. "It is impossible to do business with the rates of exchange as they are today. The situation has got to be cleared up," he said.

TO INSPECT CATTLE

While he is in Canada, Mr. Macbeth will visit various Canadian cattle breeding farms, having received invitations from Hon. James D. Macpherson, Minister of Agriculture, of Manitoba, and owner of the Greencrook farms, and Hon. Duncan McLean Marshall of Toronto, breeder of short-horn cattle and former commissioner of agriculture for Canada.

Considerable United Kingdom and Canadian purebred stock is being shipped to Australia for breeding purposes. Mr. Macbeth stated. He said there were some very fine herds of cattle in Australia, but he thought

Robert Baird Warns Municipalities Against Hasty Undertakings

Government Official Reviews Public Administration at Real Estate Luncheon

Municipal administrators would be well advised to give more consideration and greater study to the distribution of public funds which are to be used for public works or other undertakings, than they do at present, Robert Baird, inspector of municipalities, told the Real Estate Board of Victoria during an address on municipal matters in Spencer's dining-room to-day.

Throughout his address Mr. Baird pointed out numerous faults which municipal and provincial authorities are inclined to make, although he did not wish to be viewed as a critic of municipal administration. In view of the fact that he was only citing rare cases where errors had occurred and disastrous results had followed.

Mr. Baird stated. Too often, he said, our debt is hastily incurred and too often the municipalities are in a hurry to proceed with the spending of large sums of money, without giving it the necessary careful consideration.

ABIDE BY PRINCIPLES

Public administration, he continued, was subjected to rigorous rules which cannot be violated without incurring some one, and these rules were regularly disregarded.

He advocated a general instruction course on municipal administration to acquaint public officials with the fundamental rules.

Mr. Baird deferred any comment on municipal taxation matters in view of the pending sitting of the new municipal council.

The speaker paid tribute to the municipal authorities of British Columbia, which, he asserted, was a particularly hard province to administer. For the last twenty years, speaking generally, the province had been fortunate in having a fine class of men handle its municipalities.

Another fault to be found in municipal administration, Mr. Baird said, was the tendency of improper and unsatisfactory estimates of proposed construction. Such action, he said, resulted in many unwise undertakings, and the pleading of the municipality in debt, he said, because the undertaking had cost two or three times more than had been estimated.

TOO READY TO BORROW

The speaker also criticized the readiness of many municipalities to borrow. In some instances it seemed to be the only means of raising money, he said. Inflated assessments were viewed as false foundations, by Mr. Baird. High assessments were a good thing, he said, when they were based on fact.

"If you place your credit on false foundations you are going to have trouble," he warned, reviewing the first borrowing that took place in Canada from 1852 when funds obtained from England were used to build the first railway.

Mr. Baird did not altogether blame the councils for their mistakes, but said the councils were not to know better, and the public should be educated to a higher standard of judgment of these matters. He did not think that the municipalities were justified in incurring a liability because a majority of the people favored it, asserting that the minority should be given some consideration.

IN REPLY to a question from Fred Landberg as to whether he did not think that an independent court of revision would be more satisfactory than the present one appointed by respective councils, Mr. Baird stated that in some provinces the government had appointed a provincial commission to review municipal cases, and the success of this plan was spreading.

Death Penalty For Police Dog

Six-month-old Pet Doomed For Biting Postman; Magistrate Passes Death Sentence

A six-month-old police dog is doomed to die for breaking outside his fence and biting a postman. Sentence was passed on the dog by Magistrate Jay to-day in the City Police Court.

According to the story told in police court, the dog was reared from a puppy in a home in James Bay. During the last month or two he had grown so strong and unruly that it was necessary to keep him in the back yard, where he was prevented from getting out by a high board fence.

Last Thursday, feeling particularly playful, he managed to get out of the yard to the front of the house. The first person he sighted was a postman. Unprovoked as he was to strangers, he ran straight for the visitor and before the mail carrier had an opportunity to move what was happening had bitten his leg.

The leg was exhibited in court, expertly bandaged by a member of the police force, and was so badly swollen that the dog was taken to the hospital, to bring the death warrant.

to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the family residence, Rev. James H. Wood officiating and interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

ALLEGES PLOT BY CHILDREN

But Vancouver Man Loses Appeal Against Conviction For Serious Offence

Would Take Lashes If Term Shortened; Criminals' Appeals Are Dismissed

On an even division, the Court of Appeal this afternoon dismissed an appeal of Henry Leslie Cockerill of South Vancouver against conviction and sentence of ten years on a charge of incest.

The court was unanimous in upholding the conviction, but Chief Justice Macdonald and Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips would have reduced the term to five years.

Mr. Justice Archer Martin and Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald upheld the sentence of the first judge, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald.

The prisoner alleged a frame-up in the case by his daughters and son, who testified at the trial. While unable to produce a transcript of the evidence, he maintained that the evidence of the main witnesses had not coincided as to the time of the alleged offence and said one witness had broken down.

W. C. Moreby, K.C., acting for the crown, informed the court he had no record of this. He produced a synopsis of the trial evidence, from which he read excerpts to the bench.

HAD THREATENED DAUGHTERS

The prisoner, who was brought into the courtroom under police guard, and not represented by counsel, said he thought his daughters had plotted against him because he had threatened them if they kept company with two men, one a bootlegger and the other a lottery ticket keeper.

Cockerill is fifty-four years of age and said he had fought in three wars, the Boer War, the Somalian Expedition and the Great War. He is a barber by trade.

The trial jury in the case was out only five minutes. It was pointed out by crown counsel.

When the court decided the conviction must stand, Cockerill appealed for reduction of his sentence to two years less a day, to be served in Okalla.

"Give me as many lashes as you like, but I am getting to be an old man and ten years is a long time," he said. "I think any man who would commit such a crime should be hung, but I am absolutely innocent."

The chief justice said the court would have to accept the prisoner's evidence as to the matter of fact, in view of the fact that the jury had found in view of his war record and previously good character, he would favor reducing the sentence to five years.

Mr. Justice Martin dissented, stating that even the element of a first offence should be excluded. The evidence showed that the prisoner was a dangerous character, who had threatened his children. He would have favored whipping as well.

Mr. Justice McPhillips drew attention to the fact that the evidence might have been fabricated and said if he had been a juror he might not have believed the girl's stories when taking into account the facts of the case, including the man's record, his war service and previous character.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald said that having regard to the different opinions he would uphold sentence, and the appeal was then dismissed on the equal division of the court.

First prisoners in the morning brought over from the mainland this morning to make personal appeals to the court.

Four of the convicted men applied to the Chief Justice for leave to appeal against their sentences, three being rejected and one case, in which appeal is also being taken against conviction, being sent to the court.

Thomas Ferguson, asked leave to appeal against a one-year sentence for breaking and entering in Vancouver, claiming he had been under the influence of liquor when a man asked him to move some articles for him. The chief justice pointed out that the matter of conviction and that the sentence of one year was not severe.

Henry Chevelley sought reduction of conviction by false pretences at New Westminster claiming he did not realize he was doing wrong. The chief justice said the sentence was so severe, evidence pointing out the amount involved did not make any difference.

William Fleming, sentenced to two years for breaking and entering by night in Vancouver with intent to steal $400, asked to be given one day less and sent to Okalla. The judge dismissed his application in view of his previous record of several offences.

CROWN'S APPEAL DENIED

Yesterday afternoon the court unanimously dismissed the appeal taken by the crown against William Birch, who was acquitted at the spring assizes of a criminal charge involving the theft of a bicycle. The crown's appeal was against a one-year sentence. The justices agreed that the presentation of the case to the trial court had been defective through failure to prove previous chastity—a vital point.

The regular monthly meeting of Ward 1 Liberal Association will be held in the Liberal Rooms, corner of Government and Broughton Streets, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Yesterday evening an enjoyable dance was held, attended by about 175 persons. Dancing was engaged in to the strains of Bert Latta's orchestra.

TEN MILLION WRITTEN OFF

B.C. Government Tabulates Amounts Considered Uncollectable

An amount of $10,259,578 on various British Columbia land settlement schemes has been written off as uncollectable, it was announced at the Parliament Buildings yesterday. The amount is in addition to the $1,465,000 rebate in irrigation loans announced last week.

The amounts written off as uncollectable were announced as follows: Sumas reclamation scheme, $3,652,263; South Okanagan irrigation scheme, $2,794,520; University of British Columbia subdivision, $514,050; Camp Lister soldiers' settlement, $440,201; Merrillville soldiers' settlement, $473,475.

These losses are based on the assumption that the remaining lands in these various projects will be sold at a profit, that no further reductions in charges will be made to settlers, and that there will be no more capital expenditure for development.

The total outlay at Merrillville including interest is $968,274 and the amount recoverable, assuming that the 6,000 remaining acres are sold at $5 an acre is $295,924. The loss written off on these projects is $473,475.

At Camp Lister the government has spent $844,486, including interest, and received $125,644 in return. But with amounts recoverable the deficit is set at $449,261.

Racing Cars Becoming Useful to Automobile Development

New Plan for Figuring Par Appears To Have Good Merit

Edmonton Fans Give Canadian Sportsmanship a Black Eye

THE INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY, scope of the annual 500-mile automobile race, has accidentally called for some useful developments in racing cars. Because the track authorities wanted to keep the track free from the slickness that comes from oil dripped on it by the engines, they limited the amount of oil used in this year's event held recently, to six gallons per car. As an indication of the efficiency and economy of former racing autos, some engines have used as much as forty gallons of oil in the contest. One can easily imagine the look on the face of a motorist if his car used 160 quarts of oil every 500 miles.

Until this year the attitude has been that racing was racing and was not expected to develop anything useful. Any betterment of motors or increased economy that was of any benefit to the motoring public was just accidental. This year cars were built to six gallons of oil and fifteen-gallon tanks of gasoline. Perhaps the racing drivers will begin developing engines now which can run without terrific waste.

Golf may undergo a major operation. Max Marston's plans work out. The present par is determined by the length of the hole. Marston, who represents the Handicap Golfers' Association of America, wants to determine the figures from an analysis of each problem separately. Width of fairway, condition and slope of green, prevailing winds, bunkers, distance from tee to green as the ball flies, and the hilliness of the layout will all enter into consideration. This appears a very fair correction of the present system, and would improve the justice of par figures everywhere. Marston's association will hold a tournament this year, and will be the only national tourney on this continent in which all players will play in their home club. They will play in their scores against handicap and the low net total will win.

Young Stribling may have to quit boxing. Not that the heavyweight division will lose a great deal by his forced retirement, but it brings back memories of his career. Several years ago Stribling toured through the "sticks" meeting "all comers" and was a success. He was out to be one of his friends. Stribling has engaged in nearly 400 fights. At one time he traveled the southern states extensively, fighting nearly every night. Stribling almost became a champion the night he fought Jack Sharkey. Later in one of his poorest performances put on a miserable exhibition. For a time Stribling, who fought with extreme caution, had matters in his own hands. He failed to take advantage of Sharkey's blundering and lost his chance. Later, Schmeling pounded him all over the ring, then knocked him out. Stribling was never a great fighter, but his father, a shrewd manager, had saved him with great success. Stribling is reputed worth $250,000.

Sports fans are peculiar. This has been demonstrated with more or less painful regularity. Wednesday evening in Edmonton the spectators at the third and final game of the basketball series between the Edmonton Grads and Durant quintette from Oklahoma, proved inaudible to the visiting players and their coach after their third straight win over the Grads. No doubt the Edmonton supporters were stunned by the crushing defeat of the Grads, who they believed were unbeatable, but there was no call for putting the Durant players on the spot. In an interview yesterday the Durant coach stated he would request the president of the United States amateur union to refuse any other United States team permission to visit Edmonton unless police protection was guaranteed for them. What a black eye for Edmonton and Canadian sportsmanship. Perhaps things were not quite as bad as the Durant coach stated, but just the same it gives Edmonton sportsmanship a black eye.

Refuse to Enlarge Sports at Olympics

Vienna, June 9.—The international Olympic committee yesterday rejected a motion to add swimming, canoeing, ice cream, model yachting and ice hockey to the Olympic sports programme and referred back to the various countries for further study a proposal to include basketball.

Japan, probable host to the 1940 Olympics, was granted additional representation on the committee, its delegation being increased from two to three.

With Schmeling Out on His Feet After Going Down For Nine Count Referee Arthur Donovan Steps in and Halts Bout; Hard Right to Jaw Fighses Former Champ

56,000 ATTEND DEMPSEY'S SHOW

Schmeling, Although Suffering Terrific Punishment, Bored in Continuously; Baer Appears Best Looking Heavyweight Since Dempsey Made Debut

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York, June 9.—A roistering young blade from out of the west, with thunder in his brawny fists and all the "killer instinct" he has any use for, stood to-day a threatening menace of Jack Sharkey's heavyweight crown.

Victor yesterday evening over Max Schmeling by a crushing tenth-round technical knockout that left 56,000 spectators pop-eyed with amazement, Max Baer, Californian, established himself the greatest young heavyweight to crash the big scene since Jack Dempsey whittled down Jess Willard at Toledo.

"I'm going to win that championship," he shouted as a shower swept away every trace of the combat. Not one of the vast crowd that saw him fight Schmeling with a murderous right and then, a few seconds later, the former champion hanging on the ropes, helpless, will argue the point.

OPEN TARGET
A minute and fifty-one seconds of the tenth round had ticked away when Referee Arthur Donovan stepped forward, mercifully, to lift Baer's hand and spare the "German" further punishment. Sagging, ready to drop, his guard down and his eyes glazed, Schmeling was an open target for a punch that might have done lasting injury. There wasn't a dissenting voice from the massed thousands in Yankee Stadium.

The scene was an eye-full for Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera, both of whom peered down from their chairs as Baer, a far greater fighter than he had been given credit for, battered down his man. One or the other, the victor in their championship fight later in the month, will get a chance to sample the Baer dynamite, and it is doubtful now that either relishes the prospect.

Fighting as he did yesterday evening, at the same vicious pitch, the man from California would be a favorite to beat down Sharkey's guard and stretch him on the ropes, and then the gigantic Carnera with the fury of his attack. He apparently is right to punishment, and his own right is like the kick of a mule.

"I don't know what happened," said the dazed Schmeling as he sat disconsolate, removing his ring toes. It was the sudden, sharp conclusion of the combat, five rounds before the scheduled finish, had left him shell-shocked.

"He wasn't hurting me, so I got caught and opened up," Baer said, thought a house had fallen on me.

It was the first time Schmeling had been on the floor since he came to United States five years ago. He had built up a legend of immunity to the stiffest punches, but he hadn't run into a right like the one Baer was tossing.

The only blip in his record, the young Californian's triumph, was his frequent use of a backhand blow that brought warnings from the referee, and caused him to be crowded by the ropes and beat away at him calmly, that after the big climax.

So confident was Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, of the ultimate result, that he sent his superbly conditioned heart into the battle with absolute orders not to open up until after the fifth round. That, despite the odds as high as 4 to 1 in Schmeling's favor at fight time.

Baer, however, could not resist the temptation to swing a few, and in the first two rounds he launched two of the antagonist all over the ring. That satisfied him, and from there on he was content to bide his time.

Baer is BOOED
Schmeling, taking advantage of Baer's let up, crowded in with a short, sharp attack that won him his only three rounds of the fight, the fourth, sixth and seventh. Experts at the ring-side settled back, confident the German would slowly, efficiently cut him to pieces the rest of the way. The crowd booed the Livermore product heartily as he backed around listlessly, stood in his corner and let Schmeling pour in blows.

Then came the fireworks. Starting the eighth, Baer really began coming out, his knock-out punch, he rushed down with a mean look on his face for the first time, no longer smiling, and he socked Schmeling with everything in the book, both at long and short range.

MEASURES GERMAN
In the ninth he nailed the German (Turn to Page 18, Col. 3)

BAER GAVE DEMPSEY A BIG THRILL

Californian Is Terrific Puncher and Has Great Promise, Says Jack

Former Champ Has Praise For Courageous Showing of Schmeling

By JACK DEMPSEY
New York, June 9.—Boxing has found in Max Baer the kind of fighter who can bring the game back to the old days—the days when big men fought to knock each other out, and you could not find places big enough to hold every one who wanted to see it done.

It seems to me the possibilities in this Californian youngster are only starting to be uncovered. As great a puncher as Schmeling could not hurt Baer. And until yesterday evening I had not seen any one fighting to-day who could out-weigh the German. Baer, only twenty-four years old, hits with terrible power. He might have more trouble hitting a man as clever as the champion, Jack Sharkey, but that will be a fight equal to anything that has gone before in the ring.

It is possible that Max Schmeling's bravery and tremendous ability to take punishment will be lost sight of in view of Baer's spectacular display, but I never seen a more courageous exhibition than the German gave. He is still one of the finest heavyweights I have ever seen.

Baer gave me the biggest thrill I have had in ten years—since the night a man named Firpo and I had an argument in the Polo Grounds.

Former Ball Player Faces Bigamy Charge

Oakland, Cal., June 9.—Frank Yates, forty-five, former Coast League baseball player with the Oakland club, was arrested on a charge of bigamy here yesterday.

The charge was brought by Mrs. Marie Yates, whom he married in 1923. She complained he married again in 1930, his second wife being Mrs. Alice Sheldon Yates, without her knowledge and without divorcing her.

Montreal Maroons Buy Vernon Ayres

Montreal, June 9.—First concrete evidence of an effort to bolster their 1933 National Hockey League squad, Montreal Maroons yesterday, completed the purchase of Vernon Ayres, 220-pound defenseman, from Bill Dwyer's New York Americans. The terms were not made public.

The Maroons are in the market for another fast-acting defenseman and are also seeking Chuck Gardner, Chicago goalie, and Marty Burke, ex-Chicago defenseman.

Results of softball games in the city league played yesterday evening were:

Senior division—Beavers 19, Moose 4; Jokers 9, Home Day 7; Macdonald's 18, Princess 6.

Progressive League—New Method Laundry 12, Bepco 10.

At a meeting of the executive yesterday evening it was decided that all games must be played according to the schedule from now on and the last date for transfer of players has been set for June 12.

Foxx Regains His Home Run Eye With Three In One Day

First Baseman of Philadelphia Athletics Stars in 14 to 11 Win Over Yankees

RUTH CRASHES TWELFTH HOMER

New York Giants Retain Slim Lead at Head of National By Whipping Phillies

Philadelphia fans who have been figuratively shedding tears over the failure of Jimmie Foxx to live up to the proud boasts they made for him when he clouted fifty-eight home runs last season, apparently can dry their eyes.

Jimmie has not done any damage to Babe Ruth's laurels yet, but the first three times he went to bat Thursday he crashed home runs. He batted in five tallies and was a leading figure in the nineteenth-hit attack that gave the Athletics their 14 to 11 victory over New York.

For a while, Foxx was tied with Ruth and Lou Gehrig for the big league home run leader, but in the eighth the Babe passed his twelfth homer of the season.

OTT'S HOMER WINS
Another Philadelphia-New York game was decided on long distance slugging as the Giants took back the Phillies, 7 to 6. Ott's seventh homer of the year was the winning blow.

Washington's Senators cut loose against Boston with seventeen hits in the second game of a double-header to win 12 to 3 after they had "blown" a 4 to 3 decision in the ninth inning on the opener on walks by Al Thomas. The event break gave them second place in the American League once more as Detroit ended the six-game winning streak of the Chicago White Sox with an eleven-inning, 3 to 2 triumph.

St. Louis Browns continued Cleveland's losing streak to five games by pounding out a 5 to 3 decision. In the real money game, Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinals, outpitched Lonnie Warneke, Chicago Cubs, giving only three hits to win, 2 to 1.

The victory kept the Cards a few points behind the Giants, while Chicago lost a good chance to take third place when the Pittsburgh Pirates suffered an 8 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Philadelphia, June 9.—Three home runs by Jimmie Foxx on his first three trips to the plate, plus eighteen other slugging hits, gave the Athletics their first victory of the season over New York Yankees yesterday. The final count of the war was 14 to 10. The real money game, Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinals, outpitched Lonnie Warneke, Chicago Cubs, giving only three hits to win, 2 to 1.

Washington Gets Ten-round Fight

Tacoma, June 9.—Ten-round boxing returned to Washington yesterday evening under provisions of the recently enacted state ring law, legalizing a sport which became operative yesterday.

The ten-round main event of a programme, Fred Lenhart, Tacoma claimant to the Pacific Coast heavyweight championship, pounded out a decision over Terris Hill, Chicago negro, in a rough and bruising counter. Each weighed 175 pounds.

Billy Gray, Port Louis, lightweight defeated Leo Clair, Filipino, in a six-round semi-final.

"Snipes" Gaynor, giant Australian heavyweight, won an unopposed decision over Lloyd Skinner, Portlaur in four rounds.

THE BIG SIX

A day of falling averages again brought two new members into baseball's "Big Six" yesterday. Ben Chapman, who lost only three points from his mark yesterday, hit in four times out of five. Spud Davis, who was idle, took places in the American and National Leagues, respectively, while John Rodapp and Chuck Klein lost nine points apiece and dropped out of the sextette. The standing:

Tommy Armour Sets Record To Lead U.S. Open Golf

Veteran Scot Has Brilliant 68 Over Wind-swept Course

Hatters Par By Four Strokes to Lead Field By Five Strokes For First Day

Sarazen Turns In Erratic Display

Defending Champ Has Round of 74; Jimmie Johnstone, Toronto, Scores 76

Glenview, Ill., June 9.—The battle-scarred black Scot of golf, Tommy Armour, Chicago, ripped an otherwise close fight for the United States open golf championship wide apart, yesterday, with a record-breaking 68, four under par. This blistering performance, under windy conditions, gave Armour a five-stroke lead over the field and quickly established him an odds-on favorite to take the crown away from Gene Sarazen, who was six strokes behind with a 74, after the first eighteen holes of the seventy-two-hole championship fight.

Alone, carrying Canada's challenge for the title, Jimmie Johnstone, Toronto, played among the first-rank pack with a well-played 76. Woods flying and his irons long and sweet, Jimmie was out in par 36, but a falling utter cost him a 40 on the in nine.

REAR EXHIBITION

The pace-making black Scot gave his greatest shot-making exhibition since he won the open title for the first and only time in 1927. With a gallery of 600 in wild pursuit, Armour coolly shot down all obstacles and reached the climax when he holed a massive 180-yard shot from forty-five yards off the seventeenth green for his fifth hole of the day.

Tommy clipped a stroke off the north shore record of 69, made in 1928 by Abe Spinoza, when the course was 60 yards shorter and less severely ragged.

Best known of the six tied at 73 for second place, were the veteran Walter Hagen, Ryder Cup champion, and the long-hitting Craig Wood, of Deal, N.J., another Ryder Cup ace. The group was

Durant Hoopers Play at Calgary

Calgary, June 9.—The girls' basketball team from Durant, Okla., which defeated the Edmonton Grads three straight games for the right to represent North America in the women's Olympics at London next year, will play here to-night.

The Durant girls will meet Calgary All-Stars in an exhibition tussle. Arrangements for the game were completed by S. F. Babbs, team manager, after arrival in Calgary from Edmonton yesterday evening.

completed by two young amateurs, twenty-one-year-old Neil White, of Los Angeles, and Maurice H. McCarthy, Jr., of Cleveland, and two youthful pros, Johnny Revolta, of Menominee, Mich., and Henry Cluck, of Flushing, N.Y.

Hagen's wildness with his wood shots proved costly, but the veteran recovered brilliantly and used his putter effectively.

Sarazen was lucky to do as well as 74. The champion did not like the hole in the wind, and his tee shots drifted to the rough or rolling into traps. Only his putting saved him.

OTHER LEADERS

At 74, Sarazen's companions in the scoring table included Joe Kirkwood, Tom Creavy, Al Watrous, Ky Laffoon, Denver; Lee Wilcox, Norfolk, Neb.; Charley Mayo, Long Beach, N.Y.; and Carl Gustafson, young Chicagoan.

Three amateurs, Johnny Goodman, Omaha; Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati; and Don Armstrong, Chicago, were in the group of 75's, along with Olin Dutra, Johnny Farrell, Paul Runyan, Horton Smith, Bobby Cruickshank and others.

Goodman is the youth who fought the losing battle against Sandy Somers, who played in an effort to keep the United States amateur title from going to Canada.

Many better-known stars were nine to twelve strokes behind Armour in a day of surprises. MacDonald Smith had a 77, Leo Diegel shot the last nine in par to do as well as 78, the figure posted by Harry Cooper, Chicago, the Canadian open title holder.

LEADING SCORES

Scores of the leaders follow: Tommy Armour, Chicago, 68. Maurice McCarthy Jr., Cleveland, 73. Craig Wood, Deal, N.J., 73.

Henry Cluck, Flushing, N.Y., 73. Johnny Revolta, Menominee, Mich., 73.

Walter Hagen, Detroit, 73. Neil White, Los Angeles, 73. Al Watrous, Detroit, 74.

NEW HEAVYWEIGHT THREAT

Beer stunned the boxing world yesterday evening by his ten-round technical knockout victory over Max Schmeling, Germany, former holder of the heavyweight title, in their scheduled fifteen-round battle at the Yankee Stadium. Beer, on his showing against the Teuton, appears to be a real fighter, and may follow in the footsteps of two other famous Californians who held the crown, James J. Corbett and Jim Jeffries.

Jimmy Johnson Has Three-stroke Lead In Northwest Golf

Youthful Tacoma Pro Has Fine 143 Score For 36 Holes in P.N.W. Open

TWO TIED FOR SECOND PLACE

Walter Pursey Shoots 68 For Best Round; F. Clunk, Victoria, Shoots 159

Tacoma, June 9.—Undaunted by a wild wind and rain and the excitement created by two earlier competitive course records, Jimmy Johnson, young professional of the Allenmore Golf Club, Tacoma, calmly stroked thirty-six holes over the Firecrest Club links in 143 yesterday to lead the field of fifty-four by three strokes at the half-way mark of the seventy-two-hole Pacific Northwest open golf tournament.

Trailing in with the last of the finishers, the baby "pro" of the battle added a sparkling 70, one under par and the third record of the day, to his morning card of 73, to steal the lead from Ted Longworth, Portland, and Walter Pursey, Seattle, both profes-

New York, June 9.—The office of Jack Dempsey announced the following figures to-day for yesterday evening's fight between Schmeling and Max Baer at the Yankee Stadium.

Gross receipts, $239,195.55. Gate after U.S. tax deducted, $211,676.97.

sonals, who were tied with 146 each. Until yesterday par of 71 had never been broken in competition at Firecrest but it took a bad beating from the shooting of Pursey, Longworth and Johnson in spite of the stiff wind and intermittent rain.

PURSEY HAD 68

Pursey blazed over the eighteen holes in a dizzy 68 in the morning but his putting had in the afternoon and he took ten more strokes for a 78. With a 69 yesterday morning, Longworth gave notice he was out to succeed Neil Christian, Portland, as open champion of the northwest.

While the small crowd of spectators were congratulating Pursey and Longworth, Johnson slipped in with his neat 70 and topped the three-stroke advantage for the wind-up to-day.

Longworth won the right to represent the Pacific northwest in the National Professional Golfers' Association tournament this summer. His only competitor was Gordon Richards, Tacoma, Washington state pro champion, who tied with seven others with 154. Fred Clunk, Victoria, had two rounds of 84-73 for a total of 159.

WILL WARD IN KEEN VICTORY

Emmert Gelding Wins Three-quarter Sprint in Driving Nose Finish

Blue Middy and Macusha II Win Twice on Successive Days

Snatching a close decision in a driving three-horse finish, C. C. Emmert's Will Ward provided the major upset of the race card at Colwood track yesterday, returning $16.50 on $2 straight tickets. Oregon Mist, a six-to-one shot, was a mild surprise, winning the fourth, but favorites copped the other events.

The ponies will finish running at the spring meeting to-morrow, when a well-balanced card will be presented at the mile oval. It is expected the track will be dried out sufficiently by post time to ensure some keen racing. Making the pace all the way, Mail Train topped the opening race yesterday in handy fashion with Henson aboard. She was never rested. Mr. Charlie caught Billy Skidd right at the wire for the place. There were only five runners.

BELT O' GOLD WINS

After racing down Gypsophila on the turn, Emerald Stock Farm's Belt o' Gold, with Sport riding, won the second easily. She opened plenty of daylight on her field in the stretch. Calgary Jubilee finished with a powerful rush to displace Gypsophila for second position.

Blue Middy won his second race in two days by cantering home about eight lengths on top in the third. Shasta Limited was second and Rosemond got the show after setting the pace.

A. W. Alexander's Oregon Mist went around her field to win the fourth in a driving finish from Shoreboat. The favorite, Miss Zelpha, was third, after showing in front at the head of the stretch.

PRETTY FINISH

In one of the prettiest finishes of the meet, Will Ward nosed out Extension in the fifth. Extension took the place with about the same margin over Super Fashion. The three horses were spread across the track with Will Ward on the rail, Extension in the centre and Super Fashion on the outside.

Assuming the lead at the start, Macusha II led from wire to wire in the sixth, opening up on her field in the stretch. It was the mare's second win in two days. Jimmie Trink was second and See Sag third.

Jockey Thorogood piloted Architect home a winner in the final event, going to the front in the stretch to win comfortably. Fair Cluck bid to get to the top, finished second, with Tommy Doyle third.

The magistrates are getting back to paying bonuses again. Wes Farrell, the big Cleveland right-hander, was cut this year but can collect a bonus if he wins twenty-five games this season. That puts him in the class "Alexander the Great"—occupied fifteen years ago in Philadelphia. Alec received $1,000 bonus if he won twenty-five games. The late Pres. Baker of that club was a fanatic on bonuses. Some pitchers received them if they won ten, twelve or fifteen games, and hitters if they hit 250, 300 or 325. Bonuses are a mixed evil. They spur a player along, but a pitcher feels that errors behind him are just so many dollars taken out of his hand. And his wife! Every foot behind her pitcher hubby is a fur coat or a roadster slipping away.

CALIFORNIAN WITH DYNAMITE IN HIS FISTS HAS GERMAN HELPLESS IN TENTH ROUND

against the ropes twice and measured him with terrific wallop to the jaw. When Schmeling's guard went up, fists dug into his middle. They were in a furious mixup at the bell, slugging away until the referee parted them. Schmeling stumbled once as he walked to his corner.

Baer wasted little time finishing his man in the tenth. They came out of a clinch in mid ring, when the Californian's right darted out like the head of a cobra and thudded on the point of Schmeling's jaw. Down he went, sprawling on his back, the referee rolled over to watch the knockdown timekeeper. He barely rose, as the count reached nine.

Serious as a cyclone for perhaps the first time in his jolly young life Baer sailed into his battered rival with a flurry of punches. Schmeling covered up, slid along the ropes in a desperate effort to escape. But Baer was on top of him, throwing the 203 pounds into every shot.

REFEREE STOPS BOUT
A left doubled Schmeling up, and a right sent him slumping against the post in a neutral corner. The referee stopped the bout.

The crowd paid $239,195.55 to witness one of the most sensational battles of recent years, and to assure a fair profit for Jack Dempsey in his first big venture as a promoter.

FIGHT BY ROUND
Instead of crouching and rushing, Baer moved slowly into Schmeling and ripped a hard left hook into the head. Encouraged, the big fellow leaped on Schmeling and smashed him to the ropes, twisting his hands to the German's body. He did it so easily, the crowd leaped to its feet, roared "Bush him," and Baer tore back, again he hooked his left behind the German's head, the second Schmeling across the ring, beating him with a free right hand. Again Baer played this trick, but this time Schmeling pulled back and smashed a terrific right into Baer's face. The Californian grabbed the top rope for support, and blood poured from his nose as he covered quickly. Schmeling drove a right to the heart and Baer tossed a right right as the bell sounded.

ROUND TWO
Schmeling was smiling as he came out and met Baer in the latter's corner. Moving in carefully, bobbing as he came, Schmeling jabbed a half-dozen lefts to the head, but Baer ripped a terrific left to the head, caught Schmeling on the ropes, and flayed him with both hands. Left after left and right after right tore into the befuddled German's head as Baer lashed at him savagely. Schmeling pulled away and Baer grinned confidently as he stabbed at him with long lefts. Schmeling strove to find a way to get past Baer's long left, but Baer pulled both hands to the body and grinned again as he pulled away. A terrific right sent Schmeling up almost helplessly against the ropes as Baer's huge fist crashed through the German's jaw. Schmeling was protecting himself, covering by instinct under Baer's furious attack as the bell sounded.

ROUND THREE

ROUND FOUR
Baer's defence was far more capable than anyone had expected as Schmeling moved in and found himself smothered by the Californian's arms. They swapped lefts to the face, then each drove a terrific right to the jaw. Both stopped short, but Baer rallied quickly and smashed both hands in a storm of thudding punches to Schmeling's head. They locked heads and each tried to find an opening through the welter of the other's arms. Suddenly they switched to the head with a roaring three-handed exchange that brought the crowd up shouting. Despite the terrific punches, neither was taken. Schmeling rallied strongly and drove Baer into a corner, cuffing the tall Californian's head with short hooks inside as the bell sounded.

ROUND FIVE
The excitement was so great around the ringside that fights were breaking out in the rear pews among the customers. Apparently a bit weary from the pace, Baer moved off and boxed as Schmeling moved confidently in, trying to force openings for his heavy right. Schmeling hooked a hard left to the head and crossed his right solidly to the jaw, but Baer reached the German with a right that started his left eye closing. Baer thundered in with both hands, whip-

ROBBIE CHIEN WINNER OF MANCHESTER CUP CLASSIC

Manchester, Eng., June 9.—Robbie Chien, Sir Alfred Butts' boy gelding, to-day captured the Manchester Cup, a mile and a half handicap feature. Lord Astor's Creme Brulee was second in the field of eight, followed by H. F. Clayton's Isthmus.

The winner was quoted at 15 to 2 with Creme Brulee 11 to 8 and the Clayton colt at 10 to 1.

The fixture was worth £2,100.

ping them to the head, but Schmeling merely shook his black tath and came doggedly back for more. He got it as Baer stood him off with a left and chopped his right short to the head. Schmeling leaned back in again, thumping both hands to the body, but the Californian's blow, Schmeling across the ring, beating him with a free right hand. Again Baer played this trick, but this time Schmeling pulled back and smashed a terrific right into Baer's face. The Californian grabbed the top rope for support, and blood poured from his nose as he covered quickly. Schmeling drove a right to the heart and Baer tossed a right right as the bell sounded.

ROUND SIX
Baer danced away, meeting Schmeling's charge with a long left that bounced from the German's eyebrow. Referee Donovan, warned Baer for sneaking punches in the clinches. They swapped punches to the head along the jaw, but Baer almost drove Schmeling from the ring with a right, high on the temple. The German shook his head and crowded back in, flailing his left to the head, but Baer seemed to lose along. Again Baer warned, this time for back-hand punching. They stood in a corner and shot short right-hand smashes to the jaw, but Baer still leaped along, letting Schmeling force the fighting and set the pace as the round ended. Referee Donovan's warning automatic really was the round to Schmeling in the scoring.

ROUND SEVEN
Baer stepped in with two long rights high to Schmeling's head, but the German ripped back with a pair of rights that stopped the Californian short. Again Referee Donovan caught Baer back-handing and warned him as Schmeling pinned his body with both hands. Baer drove a long left and right to Schmeling's body, but the German seemed to be sleeping from the Californian's blows. Schmeling crowded inside, drummed both hands to the body and threw a left hook to the chin. Baer threw both hands, but the Californian's right hand slipped under Baer's guard and drove a fine long right to Schmeling's head, but the German fought back, should as Baer missed another long right to the head. Baer smashed his right to the head as the round ended.

ROUND EIGHT
Baer had slowed down considerably, lost some of his savagery, as he tried to fend the dogged Schmeling off with a long left hand. Baer ripped a looping left to the body and dropped a short, hard right on Schmeling's chin, but the German slipped in close and tucked his head out of danger on Baer's chest. Baer took a hard right to the head, drove Schmeling into the ropes, swinging both fists to the chin, but took two short right smashes on the chin as they came away. No matter how hard Baer hit the German, Schmeling came boring back, his hands working busily inside. Baer flailed Schmeling's head with both hands and the crowd booed as the Californian backed and again, twisted Schmeling around and drove a left as the bell rang.

ROUND NINE
Schmeling's seconds changed his trunks between rounds. The German apparently as fresh as when he started, through, there were swelling off under both eyes, shuffled forward into a right-hand smash to the head. Baer drove both hands to the body, then measured the German with a volley of right-hand smashes to the head. Schmeling laid back against the ropes, apparently badly hurt, as Baer reached him again with another booming right to the jaw. But once more Baer hurt, his own game by back-handing. Schmeling shook himself and got in close, working both hands to the body, but once more he ran into a fusillade of short left and right jolts to the chin. Baer was punching as short as Schmeling usually did, hitting Schmeling almost at will over the previous year.

Wheat Futures Up 1½ Cents After Late Buying Rally

Winnipeg, June 9.—Lifting the market out of its all-season-long lethargy, a spurge of buying support in the last minutes sent wheat futures prices rising near the close of the Winnipeg Grain Market to-day. Values marked a gain of 1½¢ to 1¾¢, July at 64¢, October 60½¢ to 61½¢ and December 58½¢.

Absent earlier in the day, Chicago buyers bought freely in the closing minutes and ran prices quickly up to 64½¢.

The closing flurry, however, comprised most of the day's business.

AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION IN 1933

LOWER TREND AT MONTREAL

Montreal, June 9.—In sympathy with the reaction in Wall Street, prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange dipped lower in the early dealings to-day. The International Nickel at $20 was up 30 cents. Consolidated Smelters declined 2 to 129, while Hollinger was up 15 cents to $10.65.

Brazilian traction lost 1/4 at 18 1/4, while Canadian Pacific eased 1/4 at 15 1/4. Montreal Power held unchanged at 37 1/4.

Canadian Car, Cement, Celanese, Canadian Industrial Alcohol, Massey-Harris and Steel of Canada all fractions.

TORONTO LATE BUYING HELPS

Toronto, June 9.—New buying lifted prices on Toronto Stock Exchange this afternoon after profit-taking had made the market look a bit shaky in the morning session.

The interrelated shares firmed uniformly with exception of C.P.R., which showed a loss of 1/4. Smelters closed about even after dropping 1/4 at mid-day and Brazilian closed at 15 1/4.

Walkers common closed at 17 1/4, practically at the top. Distillers Sea Grant was off a fraction at 8 1/4, and Brewers and Distillers off 2 cents at 1.65.

Oil made a good showing, gains predominating at the close with International Petroleum up a half at 16 1/4.

PARIS MARKET

Paris, June 9.—Prices on the Bourse lost part of yesterday's advance in a rather hesitant market to-day. The approaching world economic conference made speculation cautious. The closing was heavy.

BAR SILVER

London, June 9.—Bar silver, irregular, 16 higher at 19 7/16.

New York, June 9.—Bar silver, 1/4 lower at 36 1/2.

Links Architecture Of India And Persia

London.—The American professor, Arthur Upham Pope, who since organizing the recent successful Persian Art Exhibition at the Royal Academy, has been carrying out an archaeological and architectural survey for the Persian Government, has delivered a lecture to the India Society on "Links Between the Architecture of India and Persia," illustrated with views of architectural interiors and exteriors in Persia, many of which have been unknown to Western students.

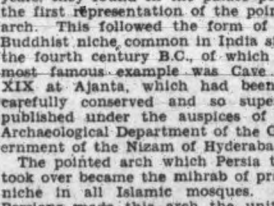

Mr. Pope showed that the cultural co-operation between India and Persia has been profound and constant, especially for thousands of years, in spite of the extraordinary contrast between the two countries—the one alert, intense, practical, with a Greek-like genius for lucidity, definition and order; the other making creative discoveries in the realm of the spirit and giving poignant expression to them in image and symbol. Buddhism came into productive contact with Persia as it passed through the Eastern Iranian provinces on its mission to the Far East.

In addition to the first appearance of many elements that continued in Persian architecture for over 1,000 years, they found in the palace portico the first representation of the pointed arch. This followed the form of the Buddhist niche, common in India since the fourth century B.C., of which the most famous example was Cave No. XIX at Ajanta, which had been so carefully conserved and so superbly published under the auspices of the Archaeological Department of the Government of the Nizam of Hyderabad.

The pointed arch which Persians took over became the mihrab of prayer niches in all Islamic mosques. The Persians made this arch the unit of construction throughout many of their most important buildings, which were often only compositions of the pointed arch and vaulted vault. Uniting with this ribbed vault and elementary buttresses, Persia was able to transmit to the Western world the elements out of which Gothic architecture was created, and later to pass back to India its own gift, enriched and made more valuable.

Mr. Pope showed that a similar co-operation took place in the development of the dome. The notion of the dome appeared very early in India, but it was to Persian architects we owed the application of radiating arch principles of dome construction and the solution of one of the most difficult of all architectural problems—namely, the setting of the hemispherical dome upon a square chamber.

STUDY FLOOR OF PACIFIC

Scientists Visit Ss. Empress of Canada and Study Echo-sounding Apparatus

Depths of Ocean, Greater Than Height of Mt. Everest, Have Been Registered

Vancouver, June 9.—Interesting data of hydrographic importance, gathered by a group of oceanographers attending the fifth Pacific Science Congress here yesterday when they boarded the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, to examine graphs made by the big white ship's echo-sounding equipment which charts the depths of the ocean.

The Empress of Canada with her larger and newer sister-ship, the Empress of Japan, are the only two Pacific liners coming into Vancouver which have this type of equipment, and the hydrographers learned much from a study of the graphs which this instrument charts at the rate of thirty-two soundings per minute.

Echo-sounding apparatus as carried by the Empress of Canada from a position in the keel of the ship, sends a sound which is caught up by the ocean floor to be sent back as an echo which is charted instantly by means of an electric pencil on iodized paper. The instrument is in the chart room on the navigating bridge, where the officer on watch keeps check of it by means of the moving roll of paper on which the varying depths are charted.

Graphs in the Empress of Canada's chartroom, which the scientists studied closely, resemble graphs of business conditions during that frenzied autumn of 1929. A silhouette map of the Rockies would show no more up and down, jagged peaks and deep precipitous valleys than these accurate records of the rise and fall of the ocean floor between Cape Flattery and Yokohama.

The ocean floor as revealed by the Empress of Canada's findings is actually mountainous, varying thousands of feet within a few miles. Depths greater than the height of mighty Mount Everest have been charted by the liner's apparatus.

Among the little group of scientists who pored over the Canada's graphs were Dr. Arthur F. Gorton of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography at La Jolla, California; Dr. Arthur Levitt, day director of the Geophysical Laboratory, Washington, D.C., and several local scientists.

The earliest banks on record were the national temples at Delphi and Delos, Greece.

BACK ABOARD FURNACE SHIP

Capt. W. M. Hall Last Visited Port in 1908; Capt. Nuttall on Sick Leave

Liner Brings English Tourists and Island People Returning From Abroad

A quarter of a century ago Capt. W. M. Hall of Glasgow, who had been in Victoria to take the Ss. Alaskan back to England and Scotland. Yesterday he returned here as master of the Furnace motorship Pacific Shipper. On that voyage in 1908 he used the long sea route around Cape Horn. On his trip aboard the Pacific Shipper he came out through the Panama Canal.

Capt. Hall took the place on the bridge of the Shipper of Capt. E. L. Nuttall, the regular skipper who is on sick leave at his home in England. The Pacific Shipper docked at the Rithet piers at 1:45 o'clock from London, Liverpool, Glasgow and Manchester, via the Panama, Los Angeles and San Francisco. While here she discharged fifty tons of general cargo and loaded seventeen tons for the return voyage to England. She left at 5 o'clock in the afternoon for Vancouver.

When she sailed from London the Shipper had her passenger accommodation filled to capacity. She had 1800 on board, but there were still five travelers aboard when the liner arrived yesterday.

Four passengers left the liner here. They were S. Maxwell and C. B. Allen of London, on a holiday trip to Canada, their itinerary including Victoria, James Island, Vancouver, Banff, Lake Louise and Montreal, from where they will sail in a few weeks on their return to England. Mrs. M. E. Taylor of 3047 Admiral's Road, returning to her Victoria home after a
